I urge you to support acceptance immediately the international validated non-animal tests for any type of biomedical, product testing or educational purposes. There are other better alternatives than subjecting animals to torture and death -- often showing results that are not relevant to human morphology, physiology, or biochemistry. Testing with the use of animals is not the best way to demonstrate what may or may not occur in humans. I know you are very aware of alternatives - please act now to change the flawed procedures and unnecessary animal suffering that continues to be so prevalent!

If you take action in accepting validated non-animal tests, I thank you.
