NIMS Compliance Corrective Action Plans

States, territories, tribal nations, or local jurisdictions that cannot meet all of the Tier 1 metrics for FY 2007 by September 30, 2007, can file a Corrective Action Plan (CAP) that will give them an additional 120 days to correct the deficiency. The CAP program was developed to ensure the deficiency is corrected and to inform the National Integration Center about potential areas of NIMS implementation where additional technical assistance may be needed to correct the deficiency.

In FY 2007, NIMS compliance moved from a “self-certification” system to a performance-based system that requires NIMS compliance to be demonstrated. The new metrics are prioritized into two “tiers” reflecting the importance of the corresponding NIMS implementation activities. Tier 1 metrics measure those activities considered critical for NIMS implementation and must be completed. Tier 2 metrics reinforce previous years’ activities and measure ongoing progress toward NIMS implementation. There are two sets of metrics - one for States and territories and one for tribal nations and local jurisdictions. Compliance with the NIMS must be completed to continue to receive federal preparedness funding.

In this first year of demonstrated compliance, some states and jurisdictions may experience difficulty in adapting to the new reporting methodology. Therefore, states, territories, tribal nations or jurisdictions that want to continue to receive preparedness funding and are unable to respond affirmatively to all required Tier 1 metrics, may file a NIMS Corrective Action Plan. The CAP:

- Identifies the Tier 1 requirement that can not be answered in the affirmative;
- Identifies the Tier 1 metric that can not be answered in the affirmative;
- Provides a brief narrative outlining the reason for non-compliance;
- Lists the corrective actions that will be accomplished by January 28, 2008;
- Establishes a timeline for implementing the corrective actions; and
- Identifies a Point of Contact and pertinent contact information.

The following timelines for the CAP process must be met:

- August 30, 2007 – State agencies or local jurisdictions notify state NIMS coordinator (tribal nations notify appropriate state or regional NIMS coordinator) that they will not meet the September 30, 2007, compliance reporting deadline, identify NIMS compliance deficiencies and submit a Corrective Action Plan;
- September 30, 2007 – State agencies or local jurisdictions are notified by State NIMS Coordinators (tribal nations notified by appropriate NIMS coordinator) that the CAPs are accepted;
- September 30, 2007 – FEMA Regional NIMS Coordinators are given Corrective Action Plan Summaries; and
- January 28, 2008 - FEMA Regional NIMS Coordinators validate that corrective actions have been completed.
