Minerals Management Service

Oil and Gas and Sulphur Operations in the Outer Continental Shelf; Availability of Reporter's Handbook

AGENCY: Minerals Management Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of availability of Reporter's Handbook for operations report Forms MMS-331C, MMS-331, MMS-330, and MMS-332.

SUMMARY: The Minerals Management Service (MMS) is announcing the availability of a Reporter's Handbook for operations reporting Forms MMS-331C, MMS-331, MMS-330, and MMS-332. The handbook was prepared to provide detailed instructions to persons completing these forms which propose MMS approval for operations to be conducted on oil and gas leases in the Federal Outer Continental Shelf or which report the results of those operations. The forms are as follows: Form MMS-331C, Application for Permit to Drill; Form MMS-331, Sundry Notices and Reports on Wells; Form MMS-330, Well (Re)Completion Report; and Form MMS-332, Notice of Intent/Report of Well Abandonment.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the handbook may be obtained without charge from one of MMS's regional field offices or from the Branch of Rules, Orders, and Standards, Minerals Management Service, 12203 Sunrise Valley Drive, Mail Stop 646, Reston, Virginia 22091. The handbook is also available for public examination at the aforementioned offices. Written comments on the Reporter's Handbook should be addressed to the Chief, Branch of Rules, Orders, and Standards, Minerals Management Service, 12203 Sunrise Valley Drive, Mail Stop 646, Reston, Virginia 22091.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William S. Cook, Branch of Rules, Orders, and Standards, telephone (703) 648-7818.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Persons submitting applications and reports to MMS requesting approval for actions, such as a proposal to directionally sidetrack a wellbore, must submit sufficient data to uniquely identify the wellbore. The application must also submit engineering data and information sufficient for MMS's technical staff to determine whether the proposed operation conforms with the rules and regulations at 30 CFR Part 250 governing the conduct of such operations. The MMS wants to assist lessees and operators by providing specific, consistent guidance as to what information is necessary to permit its technical staff to perform such an analysis.

The purpose of the Reporter's Handbook for operations applications and reporting forms is to provide such assistance and obtain a corollary improvement in the quality and consistency of the data and information provided on reporting applications and forms. Use of the handbook should result in a savings of time and resources for preparers of the forms and MMS personnel who review and analyze the information submitted.

The forms described in the handbook are similar to those that have been in use in both the onshore and offshore oil and gas leasing programs of the Department of Interior for over 20 years. The forms that are the subject of the handbook have been in the process of revision for the past 3 years. The intent was to eliminate unnecessarily duplicative data and standardize the manner and form in which data and information are submitted, resulting in a savings in the time it takes for preparation on the part of the applicant and comparable savings in time for processing on the part of MMS.

Additionally, MMS is in the process of establishing guidelines to permit the submission of operations data by digital means; i.e., tape or disks. Many lessees are currently using computer software to generate the hard copy of applications for approval of operations to be conducted and reports of operations conducted submitted to MMS. The revisions to MMS Forms MMS-330, MMS-331, MMS-331C, and MMS-332 consist primarily of the deletion of data elements which are no longer used and reformatting to ease preparation on a typewriter or computer. Revising the forms and establishing relevant criteria for each of the data elements in the handbook lead to the development of a compatible file format by the reporter.

The Reporter's Handbook supplements MMS Forms MMS-330, MMS-331, MMS-331C, and MMS-332 by providing concise, detailed definitions of the data to be submitted, including field length, character type, and decimal places. Where codes are used, an appendix is provided. By following the guidelines provided by the handbook, a reporter will be formatting data in a manner compatible with MMS computerized files.

The handbook has been reviewed by all Offshore organizational elements of MMS. The handbook is similar, but not identical, to that furnished for the Production Accounting and Auditing System (PAAS) of the Royalty Management program for MMS. Because certain data elements differ in the manner in which they are used in the Offshore program and the Royalty Management program, reporters are cautioned against using the PAAS Reporter's Handbook when preparing Forms MMS-330, MMS-331, MMS-331C, and MMS-332.

A separate Notice will be published in the Federal Register soliciting comments on the manner in which data should be submitted digitally. Changes based upon the comments received in response to that Notice may cause changes to be made to the Reporter's Handbook.

Date: September 30, 1988.

J. Rogers Percy,

Associate Director for Offshore Minerals Management.
