

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development
U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs
U.S. Department of Labor

Improving Access to Mainstream Services for People Experiencing Homelessness: Focus on Homeless Families with Children

Radisson Miami Hotel
Miami, Florida
January 27-29, 2004

Key Technical Assistance Resources

HHS/HUD/VA/DOL Policy Academies on Homelessness, www.hrsa.gov/homeless, (800) 444-7415. The purpose of this site is to share information from the Federal Policy Academies on homelessness. This includes materials from the Academies, post-Academy technical assistance information, and useful links to more information on the issue of homelessness.

Beyond Shelter, www.beyondshelter.org, (213) 252-0772. Beyond Shelter is a private, nonprofit agency whose mission is to combat chronic poverty, welfare dependency and homelessness among families with children, through the provision of housing and social services and the promotion of systemic change.

Corporation for Supportive Housing, www.csh.org, (510) 251-1910. CSH provides on-site technical assistance and training on all aspects of the development and operation of supportive housing for people who have experienced homelessness, including funding the supportive services, approaches to employment, etc. Their website includes links to local programs, a legislative action center, a resources page, online publications, and a contacts list.

Health Care for the Homeless Information Resource Center, www.bphc.hrsa.gov/hchirc, (888) 439-3300. This site includes annotated bibliographies and a searchable database of resources on homeless health care issues, clinical and administrative tools, directory of HCH grantees, a video lending library, publications, and links to other national organizations.

Homes for the Homeless/The Institute for Children and Poverty, www.homesforthehomeless.com, (212) 529-5252. As the largest single provider of transitional housing in New York City, this private, non-profit organization is dedicated to reducing homelessness and poverty by providing families with the education and training that will enable them to build independent lives.

National Alliance to End Homelessness, www.naeh.org, (202) 638-1526. This site includes statistics, policy and legislative information, publications, best practices and profiles, fact sheets, links, and other resources on homelessness.

National Center on Family Homelessness, www.familyhomelessness.org, (617) 964-3834. This site provides information about programs and services available for long-term solutions for homeless families, research and evaluation, program design and implementation, and policy and public information.

National Clearinghouse on Families and Youth, www.ncfy.com, (301) 608-8098. This organization provides information on youth- and family-related policy and practice information that will help support young people and families.

National Resource Center on Homelessness and Mental Illness

345 Delaware Avenue · Delmar, NY 12054

(800) 444-7415 · Fax (518) 439-7612 · E-mail: nrc@prainc.com

Policy Research Associates, Inc., under contract to the Center for Mental Health Services

National Health Care for the Homeless Council, www.nhchc.org, (615) 226-2292. This site has a policy and advocacy section with several papers and legislative updates online. Other sections include research, clinical resources, training and education, and publications such as newsletters and fact sheets.

National Law Center on Homelessness and Poverty, www.nlchp.org, (202) 638-2535. This site includes fact sheets on housing, health, and SSI/SSDI, Food Stamps, quality of life issues, and also provides a list of its publications and links to other sites.

National Network for Youth, www.NN4youth.org, (202) 783-7949. The National Network actively engages in public education efforts, promotes youth/adult partnerships, supports the delivery of high quality, effective programs and services among youth-serving agencies, and provides training and technical assistance.

National Resource Center on Homelessness and Mental Illness, www.nrchmi.samhsa.gov, (800) 444-7415. This site includes annotated bibliographies and a searchable database of resources related to homelessness and mental illness, as well as fact sheets, statistics, training and technical assistance information, referral lists and links to other sites.

Technical Assistance Collaborative, www.tacinc.org, (617) 266-5657. TAC provides on-site technical assistance on the full range of mainstream and targeted federal housing programs and policies that can expand affordable housing for people who experience homelessness. Their website includes a great deal of related information about the development and financing of housing for people with disabilities.

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), www.hud.gov, (202) 708-1112. Use this site to find contact information for your local HUD Field Office CPD director. Call the CPD director to find out what technical assistance is available in your region under McKinney-Vento.

U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness, www.ich.gov, (202) 708-4663. This site contains state and local information on mainstream resources available to assist people who are homeless, news and updates, a library of resources, a phone list of clearinghouses, and links other helpful sites.

U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, www.va.gov/homeless, (800) 827-1000. This site offers a wide array of information on special programs and initiatives specifically designed to help homeless veterans. The VA's homeless-specific programs constitute the largest integrated network of homeless treatment and assistance services in the country.

Urban Institute, www.urban.org, (202) 833-7200. The Urban Institute is a nonprofit, nonpartisan policy research and educational organization established to examine the social, economic, and governance problems facing the nation. The Institute's policy research covers a broad range of topics and related subtopics including children, families and parenting, youth/adolescents, and TANF/welfare reform.