

Transition to Teaching Individual Project Data for GPRA Outcome and Efficiency Measures (As of September 30, 2007)

Background : In 2005, the Transition to Teaching (TTT) grant program was assessed by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) using the the Program Assessment Rating Tool (PART) process, resulting in an assessment rating of "Adequate." In 2007, TTT program and management staff implemented several program improvements in the collection, organization, verification and analysis of project performance data. To improve the transparency of performance results, the TTT program and management staff made program and project performance data available on its website.

Please note the following definitions used by the Transition to Teaching (TTT) program:

Participants: Participants are individuals enrolled in the Transition to Teaching project during each fiscal year (includes all individuals enrolled in the program in a given year, even if they did not complete the program).

Teachers of Record: Teachers of Record are participants who are newly under contract to an eligible school district to teach AND who have principal responsibility for instruction.

Retention: Refers to the number of Teachers of Record who fulfilled their 3-year service commitments.

Certified: Participants who received the certification required by the state to teach. (That is, the level of state certification that is not dependent on being currently enrolled in a TTT or other alternate route program and is transferable across districts.)
