Comments: Please stop testing chemicals on animals. Animals are being killed needlessly, when non-animal tests could be adopted instead. Which in turn jeopardizes public health. Non-animal test methods have been demonstrated to be more accurate, more sensitive, and more protective of public health.

I want you, ICCVAM officials, to accept internationally validated non-animal methods, including non-animal test methods for skin and eye irritation, phototoxicity, and pyrogenicity (fever induction), and to follow the additional December 2006 recommendations of the animal protection community.

I don't appreciate my tax dollars that I work extremely hard for to go towards something that is unnecessary and archaic. It is less expensive to NOT test on animals! Please get out of the dark ages and look into this. Stop animal testing!! Make the step forward into the future and lead others in this profound way!

ICCVAM needs to justify its refusal to incorporate animal protection concerns into its five-year plan. ICCVAM was created to solve three regulatory testing problems of animal suffering, wasteful duplication, and lack of innovation.
