

Kyle Nekimken

Kyle Nekimken graduated from Los Alamos High School in June of 2005. He will be continuing his education by studying engineering at California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo. Prior to working at Los Alamos National Laboratory, Kyle received a LANL Foundation Bronze scholarship. Kyle has been working on smart-materials demonstration projects and developing wireless impedance sensing nodes for structural health monitoring applications.

