

Please do not test on animals any longer! I urge In- Vitro Testing for assessing acute system toxicity to be used instead of testing on animals. No innocent animal should ever have to suffer again. Finally, everyone is coming to their senses and starting to be ethical. Please do not fail all of us who are in support of ethical science. This is the way to pave a new road for the welfare of all living things, and to teach respect for life, which, in the end, is what we are trying to save. A life saved should never come at the cost of another creature suffering, and no research should either. I strongly urge to discontinue this testing on animals and to use the In-Vitro Method instead. Thank You for your time.

Yours for the Animals,

Katie Ann Craft
