

Dear Sir/Madam

I am writing to tell you that i think its great that action is finally being taken up against cruel and pointless animal testing.

Never as a child would i have thought that humanity could be so cruel to use living, breathing and sensitive animals as a "resource" for their benefit.

It disgusts me to think of all the products i have used that have been tested on animlas in such cruel ways as the LD50 test, and yet all the time i was unaware.

I think it is wrong that so many people use products that have been tested on animals and are unaware of it, unaware of the fact that millions of animals have suffered for that shampoo, or medicine.

It's great to know that action is being taken to stop this injustice.

yours sincerely, Mary beth:)
