

Duuuuuuuuuh. Regarding a recent article printed by PETA, dated September 23, 2001.

My simple question is if these lethal chemical tests that are done on animals have really nada relevance to human beings, why in the world would you continue to endorse and accentuate these types of programs? Corporate / lobbyist pressure? The almighty $$$$$ speaks again? Do you think the people that you guys claim to be loyal servants to are that insensitive and stupid?? Does job security come to abducting companion animals and subjecting these creatures to death by force-feeding them toxins until they no longer can take a breath? Geeez.
