

The data in these folders were collected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service. Protocols followed the "Ecosystem Analysis at the Watershed Scale" - Federal Guide for Watershed Analysis protocol, which can be downloaded on the Internet at <http://www.or.blm.gov/forestplan/watershed/watrtitl.htm>. Although this report represents the work of professional scientists, the US Forest Service makes no warranty, expressed or implied, regarding its suitability for a particular use. The US Forest Service shall not be liable under any circumstances for any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages with respect to claims by users of this report. The information presented in these reports is developed from sources of differing accuracy, scales, and may be based on modeling or professional interpretation. Some of the data may also be incomplete or under revision or update. As is, these data contain only some of the contextual information that is required in order to make meaningful professional and scientific interpretations. Using these data for purposes other than those for which they were created may yield inaccurate or misleading results. The information in these files was last updated on 6 Feb. 2003. The Forest Service reserves the right to correct, modify, or replace these data without notification. For more information, contact:

Fishlake National Forest
115 East 900 North
Richfield, UT 84701
(435)896-9233

Water quality samples taken on the Fishlake National Forest can be retrieved off the World Wide Web at <http://www.epa.gov/storet/dbtop.html>