Dear Sir:

I strongly object to any changes in the CZMA regulations at this time. Citizens must not be denied opportunities to object to changes in proposed legislation that affect the coastal resources and projects that might result in environmentally destructive activities. Ocean dumping and oil drilling must not be considered viable procedures. We who live very near the ocean should be the guardians of our precious resource.

My neighbors and friends feel we must have a say in this matter. Our states must have a voice and reasonable time to consider any rules that will affect our environment.

Very truly yours,

Carolyn B. Rode
