Dear Bob:

Last week-end my AOPA classmates were in awe of the E6B computer aid I waved around. In fact, identical models were for sale! Eleven and a half hours now checked off and 15 touch-and-go landings behind me. I seem to have the bad habit of wanting to see where the wheels are going to touch down, which means a direct nose dive on to the runway!! I'm working to overcome this deficiency!

Many thanks for the moral and manual boost.

Sincerely yours,

Virginia Apgar, M.D., M.P.H.
