

I live at 5278 S. Kenton Way in Englewood, CO 80111 near Centennial Airport. I have lived in this house for 14 years. I have noticed air traffic getting worse and worse as the years have gone by, and quite frankly it can get very annoying.

I know that flying directly over my neighborhood is the shortest distance between two points for many arrivals and departures, but I often feel that some of the pilots must take a certain amount of joy from knowing that they are disturbing the peace below. I have often wondered how they would like being disturbed at 1:00 am by loud and low-flying aircraft (I think I know the answer).

Anyway, I am writing this note to confirm that the air traffic in the immediate area is a problem. I sincerely hope that there will be enough measures taken to help abate this problem. I think that the proposals that are being considered are a definite step in the right direction.

Sincerely,
Gary R. Hilb
