

I'm writing to oppose the two suggested changes of re-routing flights from and to Centennial Airport over the City of Aurora area. The people who purchased homes in the current flight pattern of Centennial were aware of the problem. They have been trying to make the Airport go away from day one and since that obviously isn't going to happen they decide to try a new tactic. Since this group of homeowners was able to close a major road leading to The Denver Tech Center, Jordan Road, They apparently feel they have enough power to push the third largest city in the State around Its time to shut these people down. If they don't like the noise, they can move to quiet Aurora.
