

Weekly Monster Seminar JAM

LIVE, at the Old Fisheries Center Auditorium 201 (UW)

Spring 2007

Thursday, May 3rd - 11:00 A.M.

Using a 400 Million Year Old Biological Tool to Mitigate the Impacts of Climate Change on Aquatic and Terrestrial Ecosystems

Dr. Rusty Rodriguez
Western Fisheries Research Center

Spr 2007 Monster JAM Seminar Schedule

Mar 29	Dammed Fish: Science for Recovery Planning in the Interior Columbia Basin	M. McCLURE
Apr 05	The Use of Molecular Genetics and Other Techniques to Address Southern Resident Killer Whale Prey Selection: Some New Answers to an Old Question	B. HANSON
Apr 12	Defining Limits to Prevent Ecosystem Overfishing	K. FRANK
Apr 19	Isotopic Dabbling in Oceans and Other Wet Places	K. HOBSON
Apr 26	Harmful Algal Blooms: Global Spreading or Global Synchrony?	T. SMAYDA
May 03	Using a 400 Million Year Old Biological Tool to Mitigate the Impacts of Climate Change on Aquatic and Terrestrial Ecosystems	R. RODRIGUEZ
May 10	Conservation and Genetics of a New Zealand Icon: The Living Fossil Tuatara, a Basal Reptile	F. ALLENDORF
May 17	The Oregon Hatchery Research Center: the Oregon Difference	D. NOAKES
May 24	Targeting Behavior, Discards, and the Management of a Multiple-Species Fishery	Q. WENINGER
May 31	60 Years of Environmental Monitoring in the World's Largest Lake: the Paradox of Successful Monitoring Without Agencies	S. KATZ