

Dear U.S. Commission on Ocean Policy,

I completely support the recommendations of the People for Puget Sound proposals, and urge you to as the peoples representative and living beings to step up and do the right thing. Furthermore, I think that a pleasure craft economy threatens our waters here even further; I think lower polluting type of vessels need to be encouraged.

I realize this is a big task and there's a lot of money lined up against it. But in the end, we've got to get not only to sustainable, but to the point where we can improve our quality of life by addressing the common sense principles of the aforementioned report.

Of course, no sane person believes the GW is going to preside over anything that might decrease fossil fuel consumption. But I wouldn't want to be holding the bag when the waters here are fouled and the orcas all but dead... my point; choose wisely.

Thank you for your time.
