

Surveillance Area

This data represents the program during the Fall of the year 2000.

- Participating
- Not Participating

This map depicts the 22 recipients of cooperative agreement funds for West Nile virus (WNV) surveillance to work with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, for the year 2000. The recipients were chosen because they were affected by the WNV in 1999, or because they have a high potential for being affected in the future because of bird migration patterns. Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont joined the program in September.

Disclaimer: These data are provisional and may be revised or adjusted in the future.

This map is available at: <http://nationalatlas.gov/virusprint.html>

