Have you ever considered living in Trenton?

Thursday, September 4th 2008, 6:09 PM

Trenton, N.J.

Q My fiancé and I are looking for a three- or four-bedroom house to accommodate the two of us and my fiancé's children from a previous marriage. We make around $200,000 a year and want to find something that is a reasonable commute to Manhattan. Where would you suggest?

A There are two new little suburban nooks I like within an hour of the city. One is in Morristown, N.J., and the other is Harrison, N.Y. They're both affordable, located on train lines, have plenty of three- and four- bedroom homes and offer great schools for the kids!

Here's one more suggestion I bet you never thought of: Try Trenton, N.J. It's only an hour away by train and is fast becoming an artist haven for Brooklynites priced out of Brooklyn but who want Brooklyn's famous bohemian mix.
