	Attacks interfere with daily life?
English Text: There are three ways in which attacks of the sort we have been discussing can affect a person's life and activities. First, the attacks themselves can be incapacitating. Second, worry about having additional attacks can get in the way of daily activities. And, third, avoiding certain situations for fear of having additional attacks can interfere with daily activities. Think about all three of these ways in which your life and activities were affected in the past 12 months. Did these things interfere with your life or activities -- a lot, some, a little, or not at all?
