Funding for the Justice Information Sharing Technology (JIST) account will provide for corporate investments in information technology. This centralized fund, under the control of the DOJ CIO, will ensure that investments in information sharing technology are well-planned and aligned with the Department's overall information technology (IT) strategy and enterprise architecture, and that all DOJ components are able to operate in a technologically unified environment, particularly with respect to preventing terrorist attacks on the United States. In addition to projects funded in 2005, the JIST account will include 2006 funding for office automation efforts (previously funded in the Legal Activities Office Automation account); funding for several projects previously included in the General Administration Salaries and Expenses account; and program enhancements for several new information sharing initiatives. The major initiatives/projects are described below.

Joint Automated Booking System.—The Joint Automated Booking System (JABS) is a Department of Justice information sharing project that provides data to the FBI's Integrated Automated Fingerprint Identification System (IAFIS) through an automated process for the collection and transmission of fingerprint, photographic, and biographical data. The mission of the JABS information sharing system is to: (1) improve the booking process through automation; (2) enable agencies to share and exchange arrest information; and (3) establish a federal offender tracking system.

Justice Consolidated Office Network (JCON) Office Automation.—The goal of the JCON initiative is to provide a reliable and robust common office automation platform for Departmental components. The cornerstone of the project is the JCON Standard Architecture, which defines the IT computing framework, including networked workstations, servers, and printers, a common set of core applications (e.g., email, word processing, etc.), and a basic set of system administration tools.

Case Management System.—This project will develop a common framework for the processes and systems that support case management. Initial efforts will focus on a case management solution for the legal activities of the Department, which will serve as the model for the development of a common solution within the Department, with potential application to other agencies. The implementation of a common solution for case management systems will provide for: (1) resource conservation through more efficient system operations; (2) faster, more informed case-related decision making; (3) more effective and efficient law enforcement and litigation; and (4) better informed resource allocation through the establishment of standard reporting criteria.

Classified Information Technology Program.—The Classified Information Technology Program (CITP) will provide a seamless, Department-wide IT infrastructure for electronically sharing, processing, and storing classified information. CITP will create a reliable, secure office automation system which allows attorneys, intelligence analysts, law enforcement staff, and managers to exchange classified electronic data within and between components on a real time basis.

Law Enforcement Information Sharing Program.—The Law Enforcement Information Sharing Program (LEISP) is a Department-wide strategy to facilitate the sharing of information about terrorism, criminal activity, and threats to public safety. LEISP will implement the information technology tools needed to facilitate timely, appropriate, and secure sharing of information across the law enforcement community.

Resources are proposed to provide funding for the Department of Justice conversion of its wireless radio communications to narrowband operations. Federal Government agencies are required by 47 U.S.C. 903(d)(1) to make more efficient use of their radio spectrum. The Department's 2006 budget continues the implementation of the Integrated Wireless Network (IWN), a joint initiative with the Departments of Treasury and Homeland Security. The IWN will address communications shortcomings in key strategic locations, such as along the northern and southern land borders, and in cities that are potential targets for terrorism. Requested resources will be allocated to support Justice components' existing legacy land mobile radio systems; support IWN operations and maintenance requirements; invest in new narrowband infrastructure and subscriber equipment; promote communications interoperability by federal law enforcement and homeland security personnel; and support management and operating requirements of the Joint Wireless Program Management Office.

The Communications Assistance for Law Enforcement Act (CALEA) of 1994 authorizes the Attorney General to reimburse telecommunications carriers for costs associated with modifying digital equipment installed before January 1, 1995, in order that court-authorized wiretaps may be performed.

The Omnibus Consolidated Appropriations Act of 1997 (P.L. 104-208) extended eligibility for reimbursement to telecommunications equipment manufacturers and providers of support services. In addition to direct appropriations to the Fund, Congress authorized Federal agencies with law enforcement and intelligence responsibilities to transfer to the Fund unobligated balances that are available until expended, upon compliance with Congressional notification requirements.

With the appropriations provided in 2001, total funding for the program has reached $500 million, the authorization level provided in the Act.

The Detention Trustee reports to the Deputy Attorney General and provides oversight of detention management and improvement and coordination of detention activities, including the effective and efficient expenditure of appropriated funds to ensure federal agencies involved in detention provide for the safe, secure and humane confinement of persons in the custody of the United States.

For 2006, the Detention Trustee will continue to work with State and local governments and private service providers to maintain adequate detention capacity to house detained individuals charged with federal offenses awaiting trial or sentencing. Based on anticipated growth rates in the federal detention population, during 2005/2006 the number of detainees in State, local, and private facilities is expected to represent approximately 79 percent of the U.S. Marshals Service (USMS) federally detained population. The good working relationships with State, local and private prison providers are paramount to carrying out the detention function and saving on costly capital development of federal facilities.

The Detention Trustee oversight role covers the care of federal detainees in private, State, and local facilities, and includes housing, subsistence, medical care, and medical guard service. This responsibility begins when a prisoner is brought into USMS custody and continues through the termination of the criminal proceeding and/or commitment to the Bureau of Prisons (BOP) to serve a term of imprisonment.

The Federal Government depends on various methods to house detainees. Detention bed space for federal detainees is acquired at the lowest cost to the government through: (1) Intergovernmental Agreements, where a daily rate is paid; (2) the Cooperative Agreement Program with State and local governments, where capital investment funding is provided in exchange for guaranteed bed space for which a daily rate is paid when used; (3) federal detention facilities, where the government pays for construction and operation of the facility; and (4) private jail facilities where a daily rate is paid.

As part of the efforts to reduce detention costs, the Detention Trustee is leading a high-level interagency steering committee to target high volume districts where sentencing to commitment processing times are especially long, such as those along the Southwest border. A pilot project is underway in the District of Arizona to test operational efficiencies through automation. As the pilot project progresses, best practices and lessons learned will be applied to additional districts.

Also, the Detention Trustee is exploring operational alternatives in certain high volume districts where it may be advantageous to move recently-sentenced offenders from detention facilities within the court city or district, to lower cost beds pending their transfer to BOP custody. While this initiative would not reduce the amount of time the offender remains in custody pending commitment to the BOP, it would reduce the expenses associated with the offender's detention.

The Office of the Federal Detention Trustee and the USMS plan to use the recently implemented National Repository for Detention Space Availability to identify cost and operationally-effective facilities that could be used to house sentenced offenders, with the underlying goal of placing offenders in facilities from which they could easily be transferred to BOP custody.

The Office of the Inspector General (OIG) was statutorily established in the Department of Justice on April 14, 1989. The OIG investigates alleged violations of criminal and civil laws, regulations, and ethical standards arising from the conduct of the Department's employees. The OIG provides leadership and assists management in promoting integrity, economy, efficiency, and effectiveness within the Department and in its financial, contractual, and grant relationships with others. Also by statute, the OIG reports to the Attorney General, Congress, and the public on a semiannual basis regarding its significant activities.

The Audit function is responsible for independent audits and reviews of Department organizations, programs, functions, computer security and information technology systems, and financial statement audits. The Audit function also conducts or reviews external audits of expenditures made under Department contracts, grants, and other agreements.

The Investigations function investigates allegations of civil rights violations, bribery, fraud, abuse and violations of other laws, rules and procedures that govern Department employees, contractors, and grantees. This function also develops these cases for criminal prosecution, civil action, or administrative action. In some instances the OIG refers allegations to components within the Department and requests notification of their findings and of any disciplinary action taken.

The Evaluation and Inspections function conducts analyses and makes recommendations to decision makers for improvements in Department programs, policies, and procedures. In addition, this function also conducts shorter and more time-sensitive reviews and evaluations to provide managers with early warnings about possible program deficiencies.

The Oversight and Review function investigates allegations of significant interest to the American public and Congress and of vital importance to the Department.

The Executive Direction and Control function provides program direction for the OIG. Responsibilities include policy development, legal counsel, Congressional affairs, planning, budget, finance, personnel, procurement, automated data processing, and general support services.

The United States Parole Commission makes decisions to grant or deny parole to Federal and D.C. Code prisoners serving sentences of one year and a day or more, sets conditions of parole, supervises parolees and mandatory releasees, recommitts parolees in the event of violations of the conditions of supervision, and determines the termination of supervision in accordance with the Parole Commission and Reorganization Act of 1976.

In addition, the Commission seeks to improve the rehabilitation process by monitoring an effective parole supervision program through U.S. and District of Columbia probation officers and through research studies that evaluate the effectiveness of parole programs. The U.S. Parole Commission has responsibility for parole and parole revocation hearings and supervision of District of Columbia parolees and supervised releases under the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act (P.L. 105-33).

The Federal Government is represented in each of the 94 judicial districts and the District of Columbia Superior Court by a U.S. Marshal. The primary missions of the U.S. Marshals Service (USMS) are protection of the Federal judiciary, protection of witnesses, execution of warrants and court orders, and custody and transportation of unsentenced prisoners. It is the principal support force in the Federal judicial system and an integral part of the Federal law enforcement community.

The USMS is proposing to restructure its 2006 budget in accordance with the President's Management Reform Agenda and the Government Performance Results Act. The new structure merges the Construction and Salaries and Expenses budgets into one streamlined budget and condenses nine decision units to three (Protection of the Judicial Process, Fugitive Apprehension, and Seized Assets Management).

For 2006, program increases are requested for judicial security, information technology, and prisoner services programs.

Reimbursable program.—Federal funds in 2006 are derived from the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts for the court security program, the Office of the Federal Detention Trustee for the housing of USMS prisoners in non-federal facilities, the Assets Forfeiture Fund for seized assets management, the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force Program for multi-agency drug investigations, the U.S. Air Force for the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Program for transportation security services provided by the U.S. Marshals Service, and the Office of National Drug Control Policy and the Centers for Disease Control for security services. Non-Federal funds are derived from State and local governments for witness protection and for the transportation of prisoners pursuant to State writs and from fees collected from service of civil process and sales associated with judicial orders.

This appropriation is used to pay fees and expenses to witnesses who appear on behalf of the Government in litigation in which the United States is a party. Factors over which the Department of Justice has little, or no, control affect the costs incurred. The U.S. Attorneys, the U.S. Marshals, and the Department's six litigating divisions are served by this appropriation.

Fees and expenses of witnesses.—Pays the fees and expenses associated with the preparation and presentation of testimony on behalf of the United States for fact witnesses, who testify as to events or facts about which they have personal knowledge, and for expert witnesses, who provide technical or scientific testimony. This program also pays the fees of physicians and psychiatrists who examine accused persons upon order of the court to determine their mental competency.

Protection of witnesses.—Pays subsistence and other costs to ensure the safety of Government witnesses whose testimony on behalf of the United States places them or their families in jeopardy.

Victim compensation fund.—Pays restitution to any victim of a crime committed by a protected witness who causes or threatens death or serious bodily injury.

Private counsel.—Pays private counsel retained to represent Government employees who are sued, charged, or subpoenaed for actions taken while performing their official duties (private counsel expenditures may be authorized for congressional testimony as well as for litigation in instances where government counsel is precluded from representing the employee or private counsel is otherwise appropriate);

D.C. Court Informant Protection.—Pays for the short term protection and temporary relocation of informants for the District of Columbia Superior Court.

Alternative Dispute Resolution.—Pays the costs of providing Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) services in instances wherein the Department has taken the initiative to use such services and in those matters wherein the courts have directed the parties to attempt a settlement using mediation or some other ADR process.

Reimbursable program.—Receives reimbursement from States and localities to cover the costs of maintaining those State and local organized crime witnesses and their families who have been accepted into the witness protection program.

United States trustee system fund.—The United States trustees supervise the administration of bankruptcy cases and private trustees in the Federal Bankruptcy Courts. The Bankruptcy Judges, U.S. Trustees and Family Farmer Bankruptcy Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-554) expanded the pilot trustee program to a twenty-one region, nationwide program encompassing 88 judicial districts. This program collects user fees assessed against debtors, which offset the annual appropriation.

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 established the Assets Forfeiture Fund, into which forfeited cash and the proceeds of sales of forfeited property are deposited. Authorities of the fund have been amended by various public laws enacted since 1984. Under current law, authority to use the fund for certain investigative expenses shall be specified in annual appropriation acts. Expenses necessary to seize, detain, inventory, safeguard, maintain, advertise or sell property under seizure are funded through a permanent, indefinite appropriation. In addition, beginning in 1993, other general expenses of managing and operating the asset forfeiture program are paid from the permanent, indefinite portion of the fund. Once all expenses are covered, the balance is maintained to meet ongoing expenses of the program. Excess unobligated balances may also be allocated by the Attorney General in accordance with 28 U.S.C. 524(c)(8)(E).

For 2004 and 2005, this appropriation provides reimbursements to agencies within the Department of Justice, Department of Treasury, and Department of Homeland Security that participate in the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force (OCDETF) Program. In response to Congressional direction that funding for the Departments of Homeland Security and Treasury should not be included in the Department of Justice Budget request, funding for the participation of these Departments has been included within their respective Departments for 2006. The OCDETF Program consists of a nationwide structure of nine regional task forces that combine the resources and expertise of its seven member Federal law enforcement agencies, in cooperation with State and local investigators and with prosecutors, to target and destroy major narcotic trafficking and money-laundering organizations. The task forces perform the following activities:

1. Investigation.—This activity includes the resources for direct investigative intelligence and support activities of the task forces, focusing on the disruption and dismantlement of drug trafficking and money laundering organizations by various organized crime enterprises. Organizations participating under the law enforcement function are the Drug Enforcement Administration, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Internal Revenue Service, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives, U.S. Coast Guard, U.S. Marshals Service, and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

2. Prosecution.—This activity includes the resources for the prosecution of cases generated through the investigative efforts of task force agents. Litigation efforts are targeted selectively on the criminal leadership involved in drug trafficking and are intended to dissolve organized illicit enterprises. This includes activities designed to secure the seizure and forfeiture of the assets of these enterprises. Participating agencies are the U.S. Attorneys, Criminal Division and Tax Division.

3. HIDTA.—This activity includes resources for the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas (HIDTA) program. The HIDTA program was established by the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988, as amended, and the Office of National Drug Control Policy's reauthorization, P.L. 105-277, to provide assistance to Federal, State and local law enforcement entities operating in those areas most adversely affected by drug trafficking.

FY 2006 is the first year that the HIDTA program will operate out of the Department of Justice. The overall program funding level is $100 million, which is a reduction from prior years. However, this should enable law enforcement managers to target the drug trade in a manner that is strategic and complementary of the OCDETF program, and that preserves the HIDTA program's most worthy and effective elements, such as intelligence sharing and fostering multi-agency and multi-jurisdictional law enforcement coordination. Funds made available under the HIDTA program will be disbursed at the discretion of the Attorney General for joint local, State, and Federal initiatives.

All HIDTA funding is awarded based on a review of drug-related threat assessments and proposed program strategies and budgets submitted by the HIDTAs. Criteria for receiving HIDTA designation favor regions best able to support the goals of the President's National Drug Control Strategy and the Department's drug strategy.

The planned distribution of obligations for 2005 and 2006 among the participating Federal agencies, as well as the actual distribution for 2004, is as follows:

Investigations	880	850
Consolidated Priority Targets (CPOT)	41	42
OCDETF Investigations connected to CPOT	589	590

At the request of the Attorney General, the OCDETF member agencies, working together with input from the intelligence community, developed the Consolidated Priority Organization Target (CPOT) List, which identifies those significant international drug trafficking, and money laundering organizations most responsible for the drug supply to the United States. For FY 2005, the CPOT list contains 42 international targets. As of Dec. 20, 2004 OCDETF had identified 601 current OCDETF investigations that are targeting components of the CPOT-listed organizations. The focus on CPOT-linked investigations is one of many steps taken by the OCDETF Program to enhance and expand its investigations across the United States. The CPOT strategy seeks to incapacitate the foreign-based organization heads, their domestic transportation and smuggling systems, their regional and local distribution networks, and their financial operations, thereby interrupting the flow of drugs into the United States and diminishing the capacity of the CPOT organization to reconstitute itself. The strategy aims to ensure that OCDETF funding is being used as effectively and efficiently as possible.

As OCDETF initially refocused efforts on higher-level targets and more sophisticated long-term investigations, total OCDETF cases initiated decreased by 22 percent (902 to 703) between FY 2002 and FY 2003. However, OCDETF investigations are once again on the increase. During FY 2004, 880 new OCDETF investigations were initiated—a 25 percent increase over 2003. This is a direct result of OCDETF's efforts to expand investigations to attack all levels of the supply chain regionally, nationally and internationally and all related components of targeted organizations.

The mission of the FBI is to protect the United States from terrorist and foreign intelligence activities; to uphold the law through the investigation of violations of Federal criminal law; to provide leadership and assistance to Federal, state, local and international law enforcement agencies; and to perform these responsibilities in a manner that is responsive to the needs of the public and is faithful to the Constitution of the United States.

Protecting America in the current challenging national security and criminal environment requires that the FBI refocus its priorities; realign its workforce to address these priorities; and improve management policies and operating procedures to enhance flexibility, agility, effectiveness, and accountability. The FBI's revised strategic priorities are in order:

- Protect the United States from terrorist attack.
- Protect the United States against foreign intelligence operations and espionage.
- Protect the United States against cyber-based attacks and high technology crimes.
- Combat public corruption at all levels of government.

- Protect civil rights.
- Combat transnational and national criminal organizations and enterprises.
- Combat major white-collar crime.
- Combat significant violent crime.
- Support federal, state, county, municipal, and international partners.
- Upgrade technology to successfully perform the FBI's mission.

FBI investigations and operations are conducted through a network of 56 major field offices, over 400 smaller field offices (resident agencies), and 4 information technology centers located throughout the United States and Puerto Rico; the FBI Academy and engineering complex at Quantico, Virginia; a fingerprint identification and criminal justice information services center in Clarksburg, West Virginia; 45 foreign liaison posts; and FBI Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

A number of FBI activities are carried out on a reimbursable basis. Since 1997, the FBI has been reimbursed for investigations of health care fraud and abuse as provided by the Health Care Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (P.L. 104-191). Additionally, the FBI is reimbursed for its participation in Interagency Crime and Drug Enforcement programs and by other Federal agencies for certain investigative services, such as pre-employment background inquiries and fingerprint and name checks. The FBI also is authorized to conduct fingerprint and name checks for certain non-federal agencies.

For 2006, $486 million in enhancements are proposed. These enhancements support operations, information technology, security, and infrastructure needs. Highlights of these initiatives include: (1) enhanced intelligence capabilities; (2) enhanced counterterrorism capabilities; (3) enhanced counter-intelligence programs; (4) improved information technology; and (5) improved abilities to cooperate with law enforcement and intelligence partners. The cost of enhancements are partially offset by $94 million in program offsets.

The budget presentation reflects two proposals that are central to the FBI's efforts to effectively and efficiently achieve its new priorities:

- A budget structure that has been reduced from 10 program areas to 4 major functions—Intelligence, Counterterrorism/Counterintelligence, Criminal Enterprises/Federal Crimes, and Criminal Justice Services.

- The allocation to these 4 programs includes a share of the cost of information technology, laboratory services, executive management, and other activities that support multiple programs.

These two proposals will provide several benefits:

- The FBI, Congress, and the public will be better informed of the full cost of critical FBI activities, such as intelligence.

- Strategic planning will be facilitated by focusing on a limited number of core programs, and by having improved budget data for decision making.

- The FBI's ability to develop meaningful performance measures and to link performance to costs will be enhanced.

These proposals are consistent with the President's Management Agenda, which seeks to integrate more completely information about costs and performance.

DEA's mission is to enforce the controlled substances laws and regulations of the United States, and to bring to the criminal and civil justice system of the United States, or any other competent jurisdiction, those organizations and principal members of organizations involved in the growing, manufacturing and/or distribution of controlled substances appearing in or destined for illicit traffic in the United States; and to support non-enforcement programs aimed at reducing the availability of illicit controlled substances on the domestic and international markets. DEA's major focus is the disruption or dismantlement of Priority Target Organizations (PTOs)—drug supply and money laundering organizations operating at the international, national, regional, and local levels having a significant impact upon drug availability in America. In addition, DEA emphasizes PTOs with links to organizations on the Attorney General's Consolidated Priority Organization Target (CPOT) list, which represents the "Most Wanted" drug supply and money laundering organizations believed to be primarily responsible for the United States' illicit drug supply.

DEA's activities are divided into three main categories:

Enforcement—

Domestic Enforcement. Through effective enforcement efforts and associated support functions, DEA disrupts and dismantles the leadership, command, control, and infrastructure of major drug syndicates, criminal organizations, and violent drug trafficking groups that threaten the United States. This activity contains most of DEA's resources, including domestic enforcement groups, state and local task forces, other funded federal and local task forces, intelligence groups, and all the support functions essential to accomplishing their mission. Strategic objectives have been established to:

- Identify and target the national/regional organizations most responsible for the domestic distribution and manufacture of illicit drugs;
- Systematically disrupt or dismantle targeted organizations by arresting/convicting their leaders and facilitators, seizing and forfeiting their assets, targeting their money laundering operations, and destroying their command and control networks; and,
- Work with international offices to dismantle domestic organizations directly affiliated with international cartels.

International Enforcement. DEA works with its foreign counterparts to attack the vulnerabilities in the leadership, production, transportation, communications, finance, and distribution sectors of major international drug trafficking organizations. Strategic objectives include:

- Identifying, prioritizing, and targeting the most significant international drug and chemical trafficking organizations;
- Disrupting the networks, financial infrastructures, operations, and the resource bases of targeted international drug and chemical trafficking organizations; and,
- Dismantling those international organizations that have a nexus to domestic organizations.

State and Local Assistance. DEA advises, assists, and trains state and local law enforcement and local community groups to ensure a consistent national approach to drug law enforcement. DEA's training enhances their enforcement capabilities and provides access to the latest intelligence and investigative methods. The strategic objectives are to:

- Reduce drug-related violent crime caused by drug traffickers in selected communities;
- Improve the capabilities of state and local enforcement efforts with specialized training programs; and,
- Assist local efforts to control the production of methamphetamine.

Reimbursable Programs. The primary reimbursements to DEA are for the Interagency Crime and Drug Enforcement Task Force program and the Department of Justice Assets Forfeiture Fund.

For 2006, $72.9 million is provided in support of: (1) DEA's plan for rightsizing its overseas presence, including additional resources to address the threat of Afghan heroin and to operate effectively in Central Asia and the Middle East; (2) vital resources to enhance intelligence capabilities to more fully exploit DEA's ability to gather, analyze, and share intelligence information; and (3) investigations of drug trafficking and money laundering PTOs.

In 2006, a $72.8 million offset to DEA's base resources is proposed from the following: (1) transfer of appropriate programs and activities from the Salaries and Expenses Account to the Diversion Control Fee Account to fully support the Diversion Control Program; (2) elimination of vehicle support for the State and Local Task Forces; (3) transfer of the Marijuana Eradication program to the Office of Justice Programs (OJP) to be managed as a grant program; (4) elimination of the DEA's Demand Reduction Program; (5) reduction of the Mobile Enforcement Teams by approximately 50 percent; (6) reduction to non-operational administrative training resources; and (7) savings associated with implementing E-travel. In addition, DEA has been directed to absorb approximately $4.5 million associated with the migration into the Department of Justice Unified Financial Management System and the Department of Justice Fleet Management System.

DEA continues to revise and integrate its Strategic Plan, Budget, and Performance Reporting. DEA's general long-term goal supports the Department of Justice's efforts to reduce illegal drug availability. DEA accomplishes its general long-term goal by disrupting or dismantling identified PTOs. The measures below reflect DEA's focus on PTOs and those PTOs linked to organizations on the Attorney General's CPOT list.

Public Law 102-395 established the Diversion Control Fee Account in 1993. Fees charged by the Drug Enforcement Administration under the Diversion Control Program are set at a level that ensures the recovery of the full costs of operating this program. The program's purpose is to prevent, detect, and investigate the diversion of controlled substances from legitimate channels, while ensuring an adequate and uninterrupted supply of controlled substances required to meet legitimate needs. Strategic objectives include:

- Identifying and targeting those responsible for the diversion of pharmaceutical controlled substances through traditional investigation and cyber crime initiatives to systematically disrupt and dismantle those entities involved in diversion schemes;
- Supporting the registrant population with improved technology, including E-commerce and customer support while maintaining cooperation, support and assistance from the regulated industry;
- Educating the public on the dangers of prescription drug abuse and taking proactive enforcement measures to combat emerging drug trends; and,
- Ensuring an adequate and uninterrupted supply of controlled substances to meet legitimate medical and scientific needs.

For 2006, DEA is requesting programmatic enhancements totaling $32.6 million under the Diversion Control Fee Account. These resources will be used to enhance investigations and enforcement actions against the illegal sale, use, or diversion of controlled substances and precursor chemicals from legitimate channels, while at the same time, ensuring there is an adequate uninterrupted supply of controlled substances for legitimate needs. The enhancements requested for 2006 include resources to complete the transfer of the Chemical Diversion Control Program from the Salaries and Expenses Account to the Diversion Control Fee Account with the exception of resources supporting the Chemical Diversion Control Program in foreign offices.

The measures below reflect the level of activity performed by this program.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives mission is to deter and investigate violations of law relating to alcohol, tobacco, firearms, explosives and arson. ATF stands in the front ranks of the nation's battle against terrorism. Explosives and firearms can be terrorist tools, and ATF is in the unique position of not only regulating commerce in firearms and explosives, but also of having the requisite expertise and authority to investigate firearms and explosives-related crimes. Through these programs, ATF investigators are positioned to thwart criminal and terrorist activity at every level of the execution process—from the theft or illegal purchase of explosives to the interdiction and neutralization of those explosives.

This appropriation will provide for the custody and care of an average daily population of 196,201 offenders and for the maintenance and operation of 119 penal institutions, 6 regional offices, and a central office located in Washington, D.C. The appropriation also finances the boarding of sentenced Federal prisoners in State and local jails and other facilities for short periods of time. An average daily population of 29,945 sentenced prisoners will be in contract facilities in 2006.

The Federal Prison System (FPS) receives reimbursements for daily care and maintenance of State and local offenders, for utilities used by Federal Prison Industries, Inc., for staff housing, and for meals provided to FPS staff at institutions.

The FPS has restructured its 2006 Budget in accordance with the President's Management Reform Agenda and the Government Performance and Results Act. The new structure condenses the Salaries and Expenses budget from four decision units (Inmate Care and Programs, Institution Security and Administration, Contract Confinement, and Management and Administration) to two decision units (Inmate Confinement and Inmate Programs).

INMATE CONFINEMENT

This decision unit represents costs associated with Prison Capacity (Contract Confinement) and Operations (Institution Security and Administration, Maintenance, Unit Management, Food Service, Training, Medical and the National Institute of Corrections).

Prison Capacity

Contract Confinement.—This activity provides for the confinement of sentenced Federal offenders in Government-owned, contractor-operated facilities and contract, State and local facilities, and for the care of Federal prisoners in contract community residential centers.

Operations

Institution Security and Administration.—This budget activity covers costs associated with Institution Security, Institution Administration, Institution Maintenance, Institution Staff Training, and Unit Management. This activity finances institution maintenance, motor pool operations, powerhouse operations, institution security, and other administrative functions. In addition, it covers the cost of all food, medical supplies, clothing, welfare services, release clothing, transportation, gratuities, staff salaries (including salaries of Health Resources and Services Administration commissioned officers), and operational costs of functions directly related to providing inmate care. Finally, it covers all costs associated with regional and central office executive direction and management support functions such as research and evaluation, systems support, financial management, human resources management, inmate systems management, safety, and legal counsel.

National Institute of Corrections.—This activity provides assistance by the National Institute of Corrections to State and local corrections.

INMATE PROGRAMS

This decision unit represents costs associated with Reintegration Tools (Education and Vocational Training, Drug Treatment, Life Connections) and Services (Religious, Psychological).

Reintegration Tools

Education and Vocational Training.—Education programming provides inmates with an opportunity to learn the functional skills associated with a positive return to society.

Drug Treatment.—The FPS has developed a comprehensive drug abuse treatment consisting of five components: screening and assessment; drug abuse education, non-residential drug abuse counseling services, residential drug abuse programming, and community-transitional drug abuse treatment.

Life Connections.—The Life Connections Program is a multi faith-based, prison pre-release demonstration program to help federal inmates readjust successfully into law-abiding society, thereby reducing recidivism. This program consist of an intensive, multi-phase program to attempt to instill values and character through a curriculum of personal, social and moral development (e.g., education, parenting and family responsibilities, victim-offender mediation, etc.). Life connections pilot projects are located at FCI Petersburg, VA; FCI Milan, MI; USP Leavenworth, KS; FMC Carswell, TX; and FCI Victorville, CA.

Services

Religious.—Activity finances the costs of religious programs.
Psychological.—Activity finances the costs of psychological services.

For 2006, program increases are requested for an Institution Population Adjustment; to begin the activation process for three Institutions (U.S. Penitentiary (USP) Tucson, AZ, Federal Correctional Institution Butner, NC, and Hazelton, WV Secure Women's Facility) and two expansions (USP Florence, CO Special Housing Unit and Sandstone, MN Housing unit); for 1,600 new contract beds; and the Residential Re-entry Program.

Federal Prison Industries, Inc., was created by Congress in 1934 and is a wholly-owned Government corporation. Its mission is to employ and train Federal inmates through a diversified program providing products and services to other Federal agencies. These operations are conducted in such a manner as to offer a minimum of competition to private industry and labor. Employment provides inmates with work, occupational knowledge and skills, plus money for personal expenses and family assistance.

The Corporation strives to provide additional industrial employment opportunities at existing and planned institutions.

Budget program.—Federal Prison Industries, Inc., operations are entirely self-sustaining, and no appropriations are required for its operations. The amounts used by the Corporation for administrative expenses are subject to a congressional limitation. Information regarding this limitation is provided separately following this account.

Financing program.—Revenues are derived entirely from the sale of products and services to other Federal agencies. Operating expenses are applied against these revenues, resulting in operating income or loss. Earnings surplus to the needs of the manufacturing operations, capital improvements and cash reserves are used to pay accident compensation.

Operating results.—To date, Federal Prison Industries, Inc., has returned to the Treasury a total of $82 million of retained income excess to the Corporation's needs. No contributions from budget authority have been made to offset deficits for non-revenue producing outlays since the inception of the fund.

The mission of the Office of Justice Programs (OJP) is to provide Federal leadership in developing the nation's capacity to prevent and control crime, administer justice, and assist crime victims. In 2006, OJP continues to support the President's Management Reform Agenda by streamlining its existing appropriation account structure and consolidating programs and administrative resources into a single decision unit entitled Justice Assistance. The Crime Victims' Fund remains a separate account due to the nature of its resources, which are not provided through appropriations but through the collection of fines and forfeitures.

Within Justice Assistance, OJP has grouped its programs into seven activities, which broadly reflect OJP's major mission critical functions. These activities, and the programs grouped within them, are as follows:

1. Counterterrorism Research and Development: Funds provide for the development of practical tools and approaches to improve the ability of state and local first responders to detect and effectively respond to terrorist acts. The 2006 President's Budget proposes a total of $7 million for this activity.

2. Improving the Criminal Justice System: Funds provide a wide range of assistance to States, localities and tribal governments with crime and drug control efforts. These programs and activities target resources to strengthen the capacity of the criminal justice systems at the local level and to promote community-based strategies to prevent and address crime. Funding supports several programs, including:

Regional Information Sharing System (RISS).—Funds State and local law enforcement agencies in the exchange of intelligence information and investigative services and equipment. At its inception, RISS supported state and local law enforcement efforts to combat drug trafficking and organized criminal activity. However, the regional information sharing concept has expanded, and now more law enforcement agencies routinely reach out to share intelligence across jurisdictional boundaries. Section 701 of the USA Patriot Act of 2001 authorizes RISS to operate secure information sharing systems to enhance the investigative and prosecutorial abilities of participating law enforcement agencies in addressing terrorism. The 2006 President's Budget proposes a total of $45.049 million to expand RISS' accessibility to state and local public safety agencies for the purpose of sharing terrorism alerts and related information.

State and Local Antiterrorism Training Program.—Funds provide targeted training to state and local law enforcement addressing the investigation and prosecution of terrorist crimes. The 2006 President's Budget proposes a total of $14.016 million for this activity.

U.S.A. Freedom Corps.—This program supports efforts to build a national network of volunteers that use special councils to coordinate and develop community action plans, assess possible threats, and identify local resources. Specifically, in 2006 this program will support the continued activities of the Neighborhood Watch Program (NWP) and the Volunteers In Police Service (VIPS) program.

State and Local Gun Violence Assistance Program.—This program is part of the Administration's Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN) Initiative. PSN is a comprehensive, strategic approach to the enforcement of firearm laws. The State and Local Gun Violence Assistance program requires each of the 94 United States Attorneys' Offices across the country to support, promote, and implement a comprehensive gun violence program within the local district, working in partnership with communities and state and local law enforcement agencies. These programs offer five core elements: partnerships, strategic planning, training, outreach, and accountability. The plan envisions an invigorated enforcement effort that either builds on successful programs or, through new resources and tools, creates effective gun violence reduction strategies.

Project Childsafe.—This initiative supports the Administration's efforts to purchase and distribute 65 million gunlocks to the American public and is administered as part of the PSN Initiative.

Southwest Border Prosecution Program.—This program provides funding for local prosecutor offices in the four States (California, Texas, Arizona and New Mexico) along the Southwest Border for the costs of processing, detaining, and prosecuting drug and other cases referred from federal arrests or federal investigations. It supports the enforcement of both federal and state laws by encouraging better coordination in both enforcement and prosecution of aliens and citizens involved in border criminal enterprises. The program also protects against foreign threats by supporting costs associated with targeting resources in a border area with significantly more vulnerability than many other areas in the continental United States.

3. Research and Development, Evaluation and Statistics: Funds provide a wide range of research and statistical programs addressing criminal justice issues. These programs increase statistics on criminal justice issues and trends, evaluate the effectiveness of current approaches, and identify innovative solutions. Funding supports several programs, including:

Criminal Justice Statistical Programs.—Funds provide for the collection and analysis of statistical information concerning crime, victims, offenders, criminal justice processes, and civil disputes in support of public and private policy decisionmaking about society’s response to crime; planning, coordination, implementation and provision of technical assistance to States to initiate innovative applications of communications and information systems technology for State and local criminal justice systems; and assurance of conformity with privacy and security regulations.

4. Technology for Crime Identification: Funds provide a wide range of technology-based assistance to States, localities and tribal governments to solve and reduce crime. Funding supports several programs, including:

DNA Enhancements.—$177.057 million is proposed for State and local crime laboratories to reduce and eventually eliminate backlogs of DNA casework samples (including crime scene and convicted offender samples), and for discretionary research, demonstrations, evaluation, statistics, technical assistance and training. Effective backlog reduction requires both the direct defray of sample analysis costs to meet immediate needs, and improvements, especially automation upgrades, in forensic laboratories to increase their capacity, eventually enabling them to keep abreast of their DNA analysis without additional Federal funding. These efforts will help prosecute the guilty and exonerate the innocent.

5. Strengthening the Juvenile Justice System: Funds support State, local and tribal government activities to prevent juvenile delinquency and address juvenile crime through increased accountability.

6. Substance Abuse: Funds provided are intended to address the problems of substance abuse-related crime, including treatment of offenders with substance abuse problems to improve their ability to transition back into society. These programs include:

Drug Courts.—Funds provide assistance to States, local units of government, and to other public or private entities to develop and implement programs for non-violent offenders with substance abuse problems. These programs use the power of the courts and continuing supervision to coerce abstinence through graduated sanctions and the integrated administration of other services such as drug testing and drug treatment. The 2006 Budget proposes $70.060 million in overall programming.

Residential Substance Abuse Treatment.—The 2006 President’s Budget proposes to fund this drug treatment program at $44.119 million.

7. Services for Victims of Crime: Funds provide resources to State and local governments to ensure timely delivery of direct payments and services to victims of crime.

Public Safety Officers Benefits—Educational Assistance.—A total of $4.064 million is requested to keep pace with the increasing numbers of dependents of public safety officers, either killed or permanently disabled in the line of duty, who are seeking educational assistance.

The planned distribution of budget authority by fiscal year is as follows (in millions of dollars); 2005 amounts are presented by decision unit:

The Office on Violence Against Women (OVW), is a component of the U.S. Department of Justice. Created in 1995, OVW implements the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) and subsequent legislation and provides national leadership against domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking. Since its inception, the Office has launched a multifaceted approach to responding to these crimes. By forging state, local and tribal partnerships among police, prosecutors, the judiciary, victim advocates, health care providers, faith leaders, and others, OVW grants help provide victims with the protection and services they need to pursue safe and healthy lives and enable communities to hold offenders accountable. In 2005, OVW was established as an office administratively separate from the Office of Justice Programs.
