Learn to be a volunteer in the Atchafalaya Basin

Help your fellow citizens enjoy the magic of the Indian Bayou area

PORT BARRE--Join the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers Park Manager Dee Goldman on April 22, 2006, and learn how you can be a volunteer on Indian Bayou in central Louisiana's Atchafalaya Basin.

A short tour of the Indian Bayou area would follow a PowerPoint Presentation, if weather and time permit. The workshop is scheduled for 10 a.m. to noon in the Atchafalaya Basin Floodway System (ABFS) Project Office, 112 Speck Lane in Port Barre.

Indian Bayou is an important part of the 50,000 acres of land for public use and recreation in the Atchafalaya Basin Floodway System, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

For more information and driving directions, call the ABFS Project Office, 337-585-0853.
