SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background and Workshop Goals

The GLB Act (Pub. L. No. 106-102) was signed into law on November 12, 1999. Subtitle A of Title V of the Act, captioned "Disclosure of Nonpublic Personal Information," limits the instances in which a financial institution may disclose nonpublic personal information about a consumer to nonaffiliated third parties, and requires a financial institution to disclose to all of its customers the institution's privacy policies and practices with respect to information sharing with both affiliates and nonaffiliated third parties.¹ With certain exceptions, the Act also prohibits a financial institution from disclosing nonpublic personal information about a consumer to nonaffiliated third parties if the consumer opts out of the disclosure.

The Act directed each of the Agencies to adopt regulations implementing these provisions.² Compliance with those regulations was required not later than July 1, 2001.³ Each Agency's final rule requires that financial institutions provide clear, conspicuous, and accurate notice of their privacy policies and practices to their customers. Each rule also specifies the general content (but not the particular language) to be included in the notices and provides sample clauses designed to illustrate the appropriate level of detail.

Some consumer and privacy advocates and others have expressed concerns about the adequacy of a number of privacy notices provided thus far, stating, for example, that the notices are confusing and/or misleading and that the opt-out disclosures are hard to find. At the same time, some financial institutions, which are implementing these rules for the first time, have sought additional guidance from the Agencies about the form and content of their notices. The Agencies therefore believe that it would be useful to provide a public forum to discuss strategies for providing effective notices. The workshop will bring together financial institutions, consumer and privacy groups, experts on readability and consumer communication, and others to discuss the issues through moderated panel discussions. The Agencies anticipate that the workshop will provide a greater understanding of the challenges financial institutions face in developing effective notices under the Act and may also be a vehicle for developing consumer and business education materials about GLB notice issues.

¹ 15 U.S.C. 6801 et seq. The implementing regulations are set forth at 12 CFR part 40 (OCC); 12 CFR part 216 (Board); 12 CFR part 332 (FDIC); 12 CFR part 573 (OTS); 12 CFR part 716 (NCUA); 16 CFR part 313 (FTC); and 17 CFR part 248 (SEC).

² Persons or entities subject to the jurisdiction of the CFTC were initially excluded from the coverage of the GLB Act. 15 U.S.C. 6809(3)(B). That was changed by the Commodity Futures Modernization Act of 2000, which made the CFTC a federal functional regulator under the GLB Act, and required it to promulgate privacy regulations for certain persons or entities subject to its jurisdiction. 7 U.S.C. 7b-2. The CFTC's implementing regulations are set forth at 17 CFR part 160.

Registration Information

The workshop will be open to the public and there is no fee for attendance. As discussed above, pre-registration is strongly encouraged, as seating will be limited. To pre-register, please email your name and affiliation to glbworkshop@ftc.gov by November 16, 2001. A detailed agenda and additional information on the workshop will be posted on the FTC's website at www.ftc.gov/glbworkshop before December 4th. After the workshop, a transcript will be posted on the website.

Questions To Be Addressed

The questions to be addressed at the workshop include:

1. What challenges are associated with providing effective privacy notices?
2. What are some examples of privacy notices that are easy to read and understand and that can serve as models for effective communication to consumers? What formats are particularly effective?
3. What can we learn from readability and communications experts that will help financial institutions draft notices that are easy to read and easy to find?
4. Are any industry groups developing self-regulatory guidelines or "best practices" regarding GLB privacy notices and reasonable opt-out methods? Are there useful models or guidelines from other contexts, such as online privacy, that could provide guidance here?
5. Have individual financial institutions or industry, consumer, or privacy groups developed effective business and consumer education materials regarding GLB privacy policies? Would it be useful for the Agencies or others to develop additional consumer and business education materials regarding GLB privacy policies?⁴

Form and Availability of Comments

The Agencies request that interested parties submit written comments on the above questions to facilitate greater understanding of the issues. Of particular interest are any studies, surveys, research, or other empirical data related to these questions. Comments should indicate the number(s) of the specific question(s) being answered, provide responses to questions in numerical order, and use a new page for each question answered.

⁴ The FDIC has published guidance for consumers about the GLB Act, available at www.fdic.gov/consumers/consumer/news/index.html. Later this year, the Agencies expect to issue additional consumer education materials on the GLB Act, which will be available online as well.

Comments should be captioned "GLB Act Notice Workshop—Comment, P014814," and must be filed on or before January 4, 2002.

Parties sending written comments should submit an original and two copies of each document. To enable prompt review and public access, paper submissions should include a version on diskette in PDF, ASCII, WordPerfect, or Microsoft Word format. Diskettes should be labeled with the name of the party, and the name and version of the word processing program used to create the document. Alternatively, comments may be emailed to glbworkshop@ftc.gov, and should include the same information requested above.

Written comments will be available for public inspection in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, and FTC regulations, 16 CFR part 4.9, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the Public Reference Room 130, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20580. This notice and, to the extent technologically possible, all comments will also be posted on the FTC website at www.ftc.gov/glbworkshop, and a link to this site will appear on the website of each of the participating Agencies.

Requests To Participate as a Panelist in the Workshop

Those parties who wish to participate as panelists in the workshop must notify the FTC in writing of their interest in participating on or before October 15, 2001, either by mail to the Secretary of the FTC or by email to glbworkshop@ftc.gov. Requests to participate as a panelist should be captioned "GLB Act Notice Workshop—Request to Participate, P014814." Parties are asked to include in their requests a statement setting forth their expertise in or knowledge of the issues on which the workshop will focus and their contact information, including a telephone number, facsimile number, and email address (if available), to enable the Agencies to notify them if they are selected. An original and two copies of each document should be submitted. Panelists will be notified on or before November 16, 2001 whether they have been selected.

Using the following criteria, Agency staff will select a limited number of panelists to participate in the workshop. The number of parties selected will not be so large as to inhibit effective discussion among them.

1. The party has expertise in or knowledge of the issues that are the focus of the workshop.

2. The party's participation would promote a balance of interests being represented at the workshop.

3. The party has been designated by one or more interested parties (who timely file requests to participate) as a party who shares group interests with the designator(s).

In addition, there will be time during the workshop for those not serving as panelists to ask questions.
