Pennsylvania Gardening Book FREE!

The Guide to Gardening for Life in Southeastern Pennsylvania is a new publication brought to you by the National Audubon Society. It includes essays about some of the key issues in our area — deer, water, land use, etc. — combined with local success stories, practical solutions, checklists, and page after page of color photographs. This exciting publication is for anyone interested in healthy habitat gardening, whether you live on five acres, or a small urban lot.

To get a free copy and receive all the benefits of membership in Audubon, please print this page, then complete and mail the form below.
