

2002 Telluride Conference
on
Women's and Children's Health

Like snow in the high country, plans for this year's Telluride meeting are falling into place. The conference will take place February 1-3, and as always will offer an unparalleled opportunity for learning and networking for IHS and tribal providers. As you can see from the attached program, we've assembled a top-notch faculty with topics that are both timely and important to those providing care for women and children in Indian health settings. The agenda also allows ample time to enjoy the mountain environment of one of North America's most spectacular communities.

The meeting will be held at the Christ Presbyterian Church, 434 Columbia Ave. (The locations for the Sunday breakout sessions will be announced later.) The church is located a block north of Colorado Ave. (Main St.) i.e. away from the ski slopes – and just west of the corner of Aspen St.

As in the past this is an unofficial meeting, so plan on taking annual leave or use your CME leave for the Friday session. As always, there is no pre-registration, and the cost of the meeting will be nominal – it usually runs about $15 - $20 depending on attendance and the price of bagels. We'll "pass the hat" on Saturday evening to cover expenses.

For accommodations, call Telluride Central Reservations, 1-800-525-3455 or via internet at www.telluride.com. Ask for lodging downtown.
