Dear John and OIRA,

You requested that I email you "copies of your writings on these subjects and any reference lists you may have" before the April 3, 2003 deadline for comments on OIRA's "Draft 2003 Report to Congress on the Costs and Benefits of Federal Regulations," Chapter II (requests for comments on three areas).

Please find attached copies of 11 of my papers (with references in each) on:

- regulation of emerging risks
- precaution
- risk-risk tradeoffs
- climate change policy (including the draft summary of my forthcoming 2003 book from AEI Press)
- nonequilibrium ecology and regulation, and related topics.

Other papers that I was not able to attach electronically include:

"Regulatory Improvement Legislation: Judicial Review of Provisions Regarding Risk Assessment and Cost-Benefit Analysis," 11 Duke Env't'l Law & Policy Forum 89-138 (2000) (report of twelve-member expert panel) (available at <http://www.law.duke.edu/journals/delpf/>).

"Reforming Risk Regulation: Achieving More Protection at Less Cost," Report of the Harvard Group on Risk Management Reform, 1 Human and Ecological Risk Assessment 183-206 (1995) (multi-author report of expert panel)

Jonathan B. Wiener, "Sustainable Governance," in John Martin Gillroy & Joe Bowersox, eds., The Moral Austerity of Environmental Decisionmaking 131-144 (Durham: Duke University Press, 2002).

Jonathan B. Wiener, "Risk in the Republic," 8 Duke Env't'l Law & Policy Forum 1-21 (1997) (available at <http://www.law.duke.edu/journals/delpf/>).

I have also attached my CV, listing all of my publications. Please let me know if you would like copies of any other papers.

I hope these materials are useful to you.
Best regards,

Jonathan B. Wiener

Jonathan:

The purpose of this note is to encourage you to comment on our draft Report to Congress on the Costs and Benefits of Regulation, particularly the requests on precaution and benefits/costs of homeland security regulation. At a minimum, we request that you send us copies of your writings on these subjects and any reference lists you may have. Many thanks!
