General Comment:At a time when "bird flu" is a major health concern for the world and for the U.S., I find it incredible that the FSIS, USDA would allow poultry from any country to pass through another country which is not allowed to export to the U.S. and then come to the people of the U.S.A. The proposal is okay but the inspection or regulation of the proposal is impossible. At the present time in the United States, even USDA inspected product cannot go from a USDA plant to a non USDA plant and then back to a USDA plant because of contamination. This proposed rule would allow this transaction to happen around the world without any inspection. Country of origin labeling would not be enforceable.
