General Comment: An international set of guidelines will only be effective if violation notices are put out in a timely manner. The recent notice regarding the Chinese fish products, that were found to contain unapproved feed additives was not as effective as it might have been, had the notice prevented the products from being distributed. Certainly a great deal of those products were already paid for long before the notice was distributed. Otherwise, we are only dampening the profits and not impacting the producers enough for them to change their practices.
