We are able to offer a variety of seed packs, valued at $2.49 per pack. These seeds have recently returned from seed rack displays. The displays were placed in a variety of store environments; therefore, we recommend planting at twice the suggested sowing rate to compensate for the possibility of lower germination rates. Each box contains approximately 80% vegetable and 20% flower and herb seeds.

WE CANNOT ACCEPT REQUESTS FOR INDIVIDUAL VARIETIES OR SPECIAL ORDERS.

Please return this form with payment that covers sorting, packing, and shipping. Upon sending in this form, you agree: I understand the seeds being shipped were packed for the previous season, stored under varied conditions, and therefore, may have a lower germination rate. They are not to be resold.

SEED DONATION PROGRAM

Dear Gardening Friends,

Thank you for participating in the Seeds of Change® seed donation program. Depending on availability, we share these seeds with organizations such as yours that promote education and sustainable living through organic gardening projects. Seeds of Change® is committed to providing 100% certified organic, open-pollinated seeds of the highest quality including many heirloom, traditional, and unique Seeds of Change® varieties. Fully one third of the varieties Seeds of Change® offers are heirloom and traditional. We share with gardeners and farmers, and now you as well, our commitment to a sustainable future for all.

Heirloom: Time tested, open-pollinated varieties primarily of European descent that have been passed down since the turn of the century. For many reasons, including flavor, vigor, and local hardiness, these have become favorites, and are the repository of unusual characteristics that are important in the preservation of diversity.

Traditional/Native: Open-pollinated varieties that have evolved through centuries of growing by Native/Indigenous peoples of the world. They are often drought and pest resistant, hardy, nutritious, and are still cultivated around the world.

Seeds of Change® is devoted to maintaining plant biodiversity and preserving important plant varieties. We work to conserve traditional, heirloom, and rare varieties by growing them in substantial quantities and distributing them via our mail order catalog and retail outlets. Too few of us realize that the food with which we feed our families can also be a “vote” for preserving biodiversity. As writer/farmer Wendell Berry says, “how we eat determines to a considerable extent how the world is used.” We truly appreciate efforts such as yours, which seek to educate and inspire.

Please remember the seeds you receive may be returns from our retail stores – excess which did not sell – which were placed in a variety of store environments. Please notify all involved of this fact and plant twice the recommended amount to ensure success.

Please keep in touch with us by sending us letters, pictures, articles, or any other documentation regarding the progress or outcome of you project. On behalf of the team at Seeds of Change®, we all thank you very much for participation in our seed donation program, and extend our wishes for great success. If you have a project that needs individual attention, please feel free to call.

Sincerely,

Seeds of Change®
