TECHNICAL SERVICES AOCS

The global fats and oils industry has long relied on the analytical integrity of the Official Methods and Recommended Practices of the AOCS to ensure equitable trade practices on a global basis. AOCS, for nearly 100 years, has remained committed to its core mission of developing, monitoring, and shaping methods of analysis for the benefit of its members and the fats and oils industry. As an international non-governmental organization, AOCS ensures that its methods are quoted in the food standards of global organizations such as Codex Alimentarius.

More recently, AOCS has harmonized its methods with other renowned worldwide scientific organizations such as AOAC International, IUPAC, AACCI, FOSFA International, IOC, and ISO. Without a doubt, there is a definite need in the marketplace for these standard methods to help ensure a “level playing field” for global trade.

List is not inclusive.

Developing, maintaining, and harmonizing the methods can be an arduous task, one that requires considerable investment of time by trained, unbiased professionals. AOCS is approaching representatives from diverse fats and oils organizations to assist in securing a funding mechanism that will ensure its continued commitment in methods development, maintenance, and harmonization in order to serve the industry.

Companies that recognize how critical AOCS Methods are to global trade are invited to become a “2008 Methods Sustaining Partner”. Through a yearly donation, Partners will be able to support the considerable investments made by AOCS in time and personnel to keep AOCS methods activities timely and relevant to industry.

2008 Methods Sustaining Partners know that thanks to their generosity:

- AOCS Methods are constantly evolving to meet the needs of global trade.
- AOCS Methods are in line with the activities of WTO and Codex Alimentarius.
- AOCS Methods are quoted in national trading rules and international standards.
- AOCS Methods are harmonized with the activities of other leading standards developers.
- AOCS Methods are used by enforcement agencies to meet specifications and regulatory limits.

Partners that contribute $3,500 or more will be granted online access to the AOCS standardized methods through a site license to the AOCS Methods.

Key benefits to this site license are:

- Immediate access to the latest approved methods in use
- Searchable by definition and scope
- Ability to select methods related to a specific analytical area

AOCS 2008 Methods Sustaining Partners also will be recognized in AOCS publications, on its website and at the AOCS Annual Meeting & Expo. A special logo has been developed for the exclusive use of AOCS 2008 Methods Sustaining Partners.
