Site-Wide Electronic Access!

With each library print archival subscription, the library is provided with concurrent electronic access that can be made available to the library's users—site-wide—and for distance-education programs, too.

Advantages for you:

- Round-the-clock access: issues and articles are available when you need them—all day, every day
- Early prepublication access: forthcoming articles are online 3 to 4 months in advance of print publication
- Free email alerts: you can receive notices of when new issues are available online
- Immediate finds: easy-to-use search features: by author, by article title, by keyword, by phrase

Online access is available through OCLC FirstSearch, SwetsWise, EBSCO's EbscoHost, Minerva, JGate, and directly from Haworth

For additional details or help, contact Casey Lomonaco at e\_publications@HaworthPress.com. Online access to full-text journal articles for institutional subscribers may be governed by an access/site license. FACULTY: Here's how to recommend this journal to your library . . .

Help your library meet the needs of your students as well as your own teaching/research needs relating to the journal(s) listed on the opposite side of this page:

1. Recruit two or more faculty members who are actively teaching or researching in the field covered by the journal(s) listed on the reverse side of this page;
2. Either forward this form to your subject specialist librarian or electronic resources librarian along with a sample copy of the journal if you have one OR send us the form, and we will send the original copy of the form to your librarian along with a recent issue of the journal. Just mail this form to Haworth using the fold-up postage-paid section above. (Outside US, please enclose the form in an envelope.)

Please make sure you include the personal name of your electronic resources/serials acquisition librarian with his/her exact mailing address on side 1.

If you wish to receive a sample copy of a journal, contact Beth Arnold, Library Services Coordinator, via e-mail at barnold@HaworthPress.com or fax: (607) 722-3487.

In many libraries, a new journal cannot be acquired without cancelling an existing subscription. Please be assured that we are sensitive to this very difficult pressure on your librarian and institution and aim to clearly communicate the assessed value of the concurrent electronic and print assets of the Haworth journal in hand.
