| Specifically, An analog to digital latching fault has been identified in Prizm I, Prizm II and Vitality pulse generators that can result in a loss of tachy therapy. There have been four confirmed and two unconfirmed field events since 5/13/2002 for this cause. A software fix was developed by 5/6/2004 (SCR #1883) to correct this fault in the Renewal RF design project. However, a fix was not submitted to FDA for certain affected preexisting devices until August, 2005.   |                                 |  |                       |                   |
