

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration

Applying for ETA Grants

The Employment and Training Administration awards a variety of grants to public and private organizations to support employment and training initiatives for adults and youth. These grants fund a wide range of programs and initiatives, including: adult and dislocated worker programs, the Youth Opportunity Movement, School-to-Work, Welfare-to-Work, Registered Apprenticeship, "high skills" training, Unemployment Insurance, as well as programs serving older workers, Native Americans, migrant and seasonal farm workers, workers adversely impacted by trade, and people with disabilities.

Information on available grants and how to apply for them is announced in the Federal Register and is available on the Internet at <http://www.wdsc.org/sga/index.htm>. These formal solicitations for grant applications (SGAs) provide a description of the projects, their proposed scope of work and performance periods, eligibility requirements, and the dollar amount and estimated number of grants to be awarded. They also describe what is required in a grant application, the closing date for applications, the legislative authority for the projects, special reporting requirements, and the rating criteria that will be used in reviewing grant applications. Additional information on a specific SGA can be obtained by faxing questions to the individual specified on the SGA at (202) 693-2879.

After an SGA closes, applications which have been submitted to ETA's Division of Federal Assistance are evaluated by a technical review panel. The panel's grant officer reviews all information and a selection is made. Award notification then occurs and the awardees are posted on the Internet.
