Cotton: World Markets and Trade

MY 2001/02 Production Forecast Continues Up, Consumption Outlook Continues to Recover

The changes in the June forecast, the twelfth forecast for the 2001/02 marketing year, can be summarized as increasing production and uncertainty about consumption. Production forecasts rose as evidence of favorable crop conditions raised yield estimates above the historical averages that were assumed early in the season. Record yields are expected in China, while in Turkey, Brazil, and Greece, yields are at near record levels. Australia and many Franc Zone African countries are experiencing the highest yields in ten years, while the United States and Egypt are seeing 5-year highs, yields in India and Pakistan are slightly above 5-year averages. Some of the yield effect on the production forecast was offset by decreases in the area forecasts in Southern Hemisphere countries, as reaction to low prices was stronger than first anticipated.

Overall world economic growth and low cotton prices are major factors in the world consumption estimate. The early forecasts were based on weakening economic indicators. The events of September 11th added downward pressure to the global economic situation and the forecast for consumption. Recent months have seen unexpected recovery in mill demand.

Despite the recent recovery in the consumption forecast, the difference between production and consumption has remained at roughly 5 million bales, up from the initial estimate of 2 million bales forecast last summer. This large gap between production and consumption has maintained the downward pressure on cotton prices.

U.S. COTTON OUTLOOK

The U.S. forecasts for 2002/2003 are unchanged.

This month's 2001/02 U.S. projections include marginally higher imports.

WORLD COTTON OUTLOOK

The initial 2002/03 forecast has slightly higher beginning and ending stocks, while production, consumption and trade are unchanged

The world 2001/02 situation this month includes higher production and ending stocks and lower consumption, beginning stocks, and trade. Beginning stocks are lowered 321,000 bales. Production is increased by 209,000 bales, due mainly to increases of 100,000 bales in Australia and Pakistan and 68,000 bales in India, which were partially offset by several smaller decreases. Consumption is down 130,000 bales as increases in Russia (100,000) and Pakistan (50,000) are more than offset by decreases in Thailand, Indonesia, Japan, Mexico, Hong Kong, and other small decreases. As a result, ending stocks are decreased by 100,000 bales.

COTTON PRICES

COTLOOK A INDEX: The A-Index, a principal measure of international cotton prices, is an average of the five lowest quotes of cotton for delivery to Northern European ports. In May, the index averaged 39.93 cents per pound, down 2.11 cents from the previous month. The Syrian quote was the lowest in the index during the four-week period, averaging 39.06 cents per pound. The Memphis quote averaged 42.32 cents per pound.

FUTURES PRICES: Nearby futures prices averaged 35.75 cents per pound in May, up only .43 cents from last month, but reversing last month's downward slide.

U.S. COTTON HIGHLIGHTS

COTTON CONSUMPTION: The seasonally adjusted daily rate of U.S. cotton consumption in April 2002 was 29,397 (480-lb.) bales, down from 29,878 in March. A total of 611,000 bales were consumed during the four weeks of April, compared with 786,296 during the five weeks of March. The seasonally adjusted annualized consumption rate for the month of April was 7.67 million bales, down from 7.8 million in March.

TEXTILE MILL REPORT: Domestic mill buyers purchased a light volume of 2001-crop cotton for summer delivery. Demand was best for low white or light spotted cotton with 34 and shorter staple and high mike and high white grades with 34 and longer staple and higher strength. Interest in 2002-crop cotton was good. Export sales continued strong. Demand for ring-spun yarn was light to moderate, and demand for open-end yarn was moderate to good. Consumption of raw cotton was steady. Some mills operated at close to full production, a six to seven day workweek. Other mills continued operating on a five to six day workweek.

COTTON STOCKS: U.S. cotton stocks on hand in consuming establishments at the end of April were 375,554 bales (480-lb), up from 353,296 in March. Stocks held in public storage and compresses in April totaled 10.7 million bales, down from 12.2 million in March. Active spindles in April totaled 2.79 million, of which 1.6 million were dedicated to 100-percent cotton, compared with 3.59 million for the same time last year, with 2.0 million dedicated to 100-percent cotton. Cotton's share on the cotton spindle system in April was 80.7 percent.

U.S. COTTON EXPORTS in March 2002 totaled 1.03 million (480-lb) bales, down from 1.1 million bales in February 2002. According to the U.S. Bureau of the Census, Turkey and Mexico were the major destinations in March, accounting for 374,397 bales combined. Indonesia and Thailand were other important destinations in March.

U.S. COTTON IMPORTS in March 2002 totaled 8,979 (480-lb) bales, up from 5,621 bales in February. The majority of the imports, 8,931 bales, came from Egypt.
