

Kaolin Trail

Shawnee National Forest

Mississippi Bluffs Ranger District

2007

Kaolin Pond is a pit used in the production of high quality clay for pottery. The mining operation ceased in the 1950's and the rights to the mine expired in 1990. The pit has silted in and filled with water to about 35 ft. deep. The trail starts west of the pond and branches east and west going to dead ends.

Safety

Carrying a map, compass and plenty of water is recommended. Be aware of hunters during hunting season. Poisonous snakes and poison ivy are present in the area. The trail tread may become slick when wet.

Surrounding Area

Pomona Natural Bridge, Cedar Lake, Clear Springs Wilderness and Bald Knob Wilderness.

Emergencies

The nearest hospital is Union County Hospital in Anna. The nearest public phone is in Cobden.
