Form FPC General Instructions

What is a “state-certified production?”

A state certified production is a production that is certified by the Montana Department of Commerce and is produced by a production company that has a national or regional distribution plan that includes, but is not limited to, a major theatrical exhibition, film festival, television network, cable television programming, magazine advertising, or video or internet distribution.

How do I certify my production and obtain a Film Certification Number?

To certify your production, you are required to file an application with the Montana Department of Commerce. You can request an application form by contacting the Montana Department of Commerce Film Office at 800-553-4563, or e-mail them at Montanafilm@visitmt.com. Once the Montana Film Office reviews your application, they will assign a certification number to your production and notify the Montana Department of Revenue.

I am applying for the employment production credit. How do I determine the amount of compensation I paid to a Montana resident when calculating my credit?

The compensation that you paid to Montana residents is considered salaries, wages, or other compensation, including related benefits. It is considered the social security wages and any other compensation that is reported on federal Form W-2. Compensation does not include amounts paid for contract labor that are reportable on federal Form 1099-MISC. The amount of compensation you pay is the amount that is paid during your tax period, which may not necessarily be on a calendar year basis.

I am applying for the qualified expenditure credit. How do I determine the amount of my qualified expenditures when calculating my credit?

The expenditures that qualify for this credit are those made by you in Montana that are directly related to your state-certified production. This includes, but may not be limited to, expenses for lodging, restaurant and food, location fees, lumber and construction materials, rental of production equipment and vehicles, and supplies and materials that will be used in the production.

The employment production credit is based on the amount of compensation that I paid to Montana residents. How do I determine if the individual I employ is a Montana resident?

When applying for the employment production credit, your production company is required to obtain and retain a declaration of residency form, Montana Form FPC-RD for each Montana resident. See Montana Form FPC-RD for detailed information on who is a Montana resident.

As a pass-through entity, how do I report the credit information to the owners of my pass-through entity?

As a pass-through entity, such as an S corporation, partnership, or limited liability company, you will complete Montana Form FPC, along with Schedules I and II. You will not complete the Employment Production Credit Election. This is completed by the owners of your pass-through entity. Attach Form FPC to your Montana Information Return Form CLT-4S or PR-1.

You are required to provide your owners with information on their proportionate shares of the credit, compensation, and expenses relating to these credits. The amount of credit, compensation, and expenses allocated to each of your owners is based on the same proportion that is used to report their income or loss for state tax purposes. This information includes the owners' proportionate shares of the film production credits, along with their proportionate shares of compensation and expenses that are required to be added back to income, that are associated with the calculation of the credits.

How do I complete Montana Form FPC when I am an owner in a pass-through entity?

As a shareholder of an S corporation, a partner of a partnership, or a member of a limited liability company whose entity has qualified for the film production credit, you are entitled to apply a portion of the credit that has been passed through to you against your tax liability.

You are only required to complete your personal information on page 1 of Form FPC, lines 1 through 3, reporting the amount of your credit and making the election to treat your employment production credit as either a refundable carryover credit or a refundable credit.

Film Production Credit

You will first need to complete Form FPC, Schedules I and II, before you can calculate the film production credit.

Schedule I Employment Production Credit

Line 1, Column D – If you submitted a list of qualified compensation to the Department of Revenue at the completion of your principal photography, you do not have to recreate this list. Enter on line 1, Column D the total amount of qualified compensation previously submitted, and include a copy of your previously submitted Form FPC-PP with the application.

Column A – Enter the names alphabetically by last name of all resident cast and crew members who were employed by the production company during the production company's tax year. Do not include in this list any Montana residents and their compensation that you have elected to treat as qualified expenditures. You also do not need to include nonresidents who did not perform services in Montana.

If you have more than 17 cast and crew members participating in the qualified production, you may substitute Schedule I with your own schedule. This schedule will need to be formatted similar to Schedule I.

Column B – Enter the social security number of each cast or crew member.

Column C – Before you can claim the cast or crew member as a Montana resident, you will need to have the individual complete Montana Form FPC-RD, Montana Declaration of Residency. You do not have to submit Montana Form FPC-RD with your credit application, but you are required to maintain the form in your company records and provide us a copy if requested.

Column D – Enter the total amount of compensation that you paid to each individual during your tax year. For example, if your production company's tax year is a fiscal year beginning in July and ending in June, you will report in Column D compensation paid between July and June.

Compensation paid is considered salaries, wages, or other compensation, including related benefits that are paid. It is considered the social security wages and any other compensation that is reported on federal Form W-2. Compensation does not include amounts paid for contract labor that are reportable on federal Form 1099-MISC.

Column E – Your employment production credit is limited to 14% of the first $50,000 of compensation paid to each Montana resident. Multiply the amount in Column D, for Montana residents, by 0.14 (14%) and enter the result in Column E, but not more than $7,000. Add the amounts in Column E and enter the result on page 1, line 1.

Schedule II Qualified Expenditures

Line 1, Column D – If you submitted a list of qualified expenditures to the Department of Revenue at the completion of your principal photography, you do not have to recreate this list. Enter on line 1, Column D the total amount of qualified expenditures previously submitted, and include a copy of your previously submitted Form FPC-PP with the application.

Column A – Enter the name of the business or individual that you paid. Do not include any expenses that you previously submitted and reported on line 1. Refer to page 1 of the instructions for a definition of qualified expenditures.

Column B – Enter a brief description of the qualified expenditures (i.e. lumber, lodging, meals, maintenance, etc.).

Column C – Enter the date you paid the qualified expenditure.

Column D – Enter in Column D, the total amount of each individual qualified expenditure. Add the amounts of each expenditure reported in Column D and enter the total on line 22, Column D. Multiply the amount on line 22, Column D by 0.09 (9%) and enter the result on line 23, Column D. This is your qualified expenditure credit.

Film Production Credit

Line 1 – Enter your employment production credit from Schedule I, Column E, line 19 on line 1.

The employment production credit election is to be completed by a C Corporation, Sole Proprietorship filing federal Schedule C, shareholder of an S Corporation, partner of a Partnership, or a member of a Limited Liability Company. An S Corporation, Partnership or Limited Liability Company cannot make the election to have their employment production credit treated as a carryover credit or a refundable credit.

You can make a one time irrevocable election to treat your employment production credit as a refundable carryover credit. This refundable carryover credit can be carried forward up to four succeeding tax years and applied against any further tax liabilities with the remainder refunded to you at the end of the carryforward period. Or, you may elect to treat your employment production credit as a refundable credit, refunded to you upon filing this year's tax return.

Line 2 – Enter your qualified expenditure credit from Schedule II, line 23 on line 2.

Line 3 – Add the amount on lines 1 and 2 and enter the result on line 3. This is your combined film production credit.

Recapture of your previously received credit. If the Department of Commerce revokes your state certification and you have claimed the tax credit, you are required to refund any amount of credit reported following the revocation of your certificate. Penalties and interest apply on this recapture of your film production credits
