I. INTRODUCTION

This report to the Congress is submitted in accordance with section 115 (a) (3) of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act (Act) and serves to notify intent to exercise the authority provided by the Act. Section 115 provides that such authority shall be limited to $700 billion after the submission of this report, unless there is enacted, within 15 calendar days of transmission, a joint resolution described in Section 115 (c) of the Act.

Given the transition of leadership within the executive branch, the Administration, and in particular the Treasury Department, has worked to provide detailed information regarding the programs and spending under the Troubled Assets Relief Program to the President-elect's transition team and to ensure that these authorities can be carried out in a seamless fashion.

The Administration submits this report at the request of the President-elect, and believes that submission of this report at this time is consistent with the continued need to promote financial market stability. The timeline specified in Section 115 means that the outlay of funds will not occur within the remainder of this Administration. This Administration has no intention of allocating additional funds from the remaining $350 billion, and the Secretary plans to exercise his authority under EESA to ensure that such funds are available early in the incoming Administration. In that regard, we refer you to a letter from Dr. Lawrence Summers, dated 12 January 2009, for the plan of the incoming Administration. We have shared design and analysis of several foreclosure mitigation options with the transition team and anticipate the remaining funds will be used in part for a foreclosure mitigation program and for expansion of existing programs.

II. OBJECTIVES OF THE TARP

1. Stabilize the financial system and promote the provision of credit to businesses and consumers

The President asked for this authority to prevent a collapse of the financial system. While very large in scale, the TARP is finite and must be used to stabilize the system as a whole so credit can flow to consumers and businesses all across the country.

2. Increase the availability of mortgage finance and avoid preventable foreclosures

Increasing the flow of mortgage finance and foreclosure relief is important to addressing the housing downturn. In addition to specific mortgage-related policies, preventing a financial system collapse is essential to promoting the availability of affordable mortgage finance to help struggling homeowners and the housing market.

3. Protect the taxpayers

The best protection for taxpayers will come from using the TARP to prevent a financial system collapse. In addition, investment terms should be set to give the taxpayers a long-term return on their investment with upside in the participating institutions.

III. PRINCIPLES OF THE USE OF THE TARP

1. Focus resources on measures that achieve goals in the most effective and efficient manner, based on current and forecasted financial market conditions

 Treasury has evaluated various policy options to determine which program or combination of programs will make best use of finite TARP resources to stabilize the financial system and to enable credit to flow to consumers and businesses.

2. Use the TARP in combination with other powers of the Federal Government

- The regulators and government agencies now have multiple, complementary authorities that are most effective when deployed in combination to stabilize the financial system. The TARP is the only tool that can directly provide capital, whereas other programs can, for example, lend.
- The TARP should be implemented in combination with other powers and used in a manner that takes full advantage of its unique capabilities to the maximum benefit of the financial system.

3. Implement programs that allow a broad range of participants on equal terms

 TARP programs should encourage broad participation. The Capital Purchase Program is such an example: it was designed for healthy financial firms of all sizes around the country to participate on equal terms.

4. Apply and enforce terms required by the Congress

 Treasury has imposed terms that limit executive compensation and promote improvements in corporate governance as defined in the legislation, to avoid rewarding excessive risk and build public confidence in the Government's efforts.

5. Ensure transparency and oversight

- Treasury is administering programs in a manner that provides transparency with respect to decision making and implementation.
- Treasury is meeting all of its public reporting requirements as required in the legislation.
- Treasury is working closely with oversight bodies of the Administration and Congress to ensure and validate goals, performance and accountability.

6. Ensure consistent operations of programs under the TARP

 Treasury will continue its efforts to operate the TARP at a consistent high quality by retaining necessary leadership and personnel and by conducting a collaborative and seamless transition into the next Administration.

IV. PROGRAMS UNDER INITIAL TARP TRANCHES	$Allocated^1$	Funded ²
 1. Capital Purchase Program Under this voluntary program, the Treasury is purchasing senior preferred shares from healthy, viable financial institutions of all sizes around the country. To date, Treasury has invested $177.5 billion in 214 banks. 	$250	$178
 2. Systemically Significant Failing Institutions Program This program is intended to provide stability and prevent disruptions to financial markets from the failure of a systemically significant institution. 	$40	$40
 3. Term Asset-Backed Securities Lending Facility The Federal Reserve is setting-up a $200 billion program to support consumer finance securitization markets, specifically credit cards, auto loans, small business loans, and student loans, with TARP providing $20 billion of capital. 	$20	$0
 4. Targeted Investment Program This program is designed to prevent a loss of confidence in financial institutions that could result in significant market disruptions, threatening the financial strength of similarly situated financial institutions, impairing broader financial markets, and undermining the overall economy. 	$20	$20
 5. Asset Guarantee Program This program is established under section 102 of the EESA. This program provides guarantees for assets held by systemically significant financial institutions that face a risk of losing market confidence due in large part to a portfolio of distressed or illiquid assets. Treasury is exploring use of the AGP to address the guarantee provisions of the non-binding agreement with Citigroup. 	$5	$0
Sub-Total	$335	$238
 6. Automotive Industry Financing Program This program is designed to prevent a significant disruption of the American automotive industry, which would pose a systemic risk to financial market stability and have a negative effect on the economy of the United States. 	$19	$13
Total	$354	$251

¹ These amounts have been announced but not obligated.
² These amounts have been funded as of January 7, 2009.

V. DESCRIPTION OF EXISTING PROGRAMS AND INITIATIVES

The Capital Purchase Program

Under the voluntary Capital Purchase Program (CPP), the Treasury is purchasing senior preferred shares from qualified financial institutions. In accordance with the considerations of the EESA, a broad spectrum of institutions is eligible for the program: U.S. controlled banks, savings associations, and certain bank and savings and loan holding companies. To protect the interests of the taxpayer, only viable institutions are accepted into the program. A recommendation on acceptance is received from the institution's primary federal regulator or, in some cases, from a council of representatives from each federal regulator. The Treasury is responsible for final approval.

The minimum subscription amount is 1 percent of the institution's risk-weighted assets; the maximum subscription amount is 3 percent of risk-weighted assets (up to a maximum of $25 billion). Standardized terms have been developed for institutions that are organized as publicly traded and privately held institutions; terms applicable to S corporations and mutual organizations are still under consideration. The standardized terms impose restrictions on executive compensation and corporate governance and include provisions (such as the issuance of warrants) that will enable the taxpayer to benefit from the future appreciation of the firm.

Between December 1, 2008 and December 31, 2008, Treasury purchased $26.1 billion in senior preferred shares from 162 financial institutions under the CPP. Since the launch of the CPP in October 2008 through December 31, 2008, Treasury has invested a total of $177.5 billion in senior preferred shares in 214 financial institutions in over 40 states and Puerto Rico, and committed to purchase another $10 billion from an additional institution with a deferred settlement date.

Complete details about the Capital Purchase Program are available on the Treasury website at: http://www.treas.gov/initiatives/eesa/.

The Automotive Industry Financing Program

The objective of the Automotive Industry Financing Program (AIFP) is to prevent a significant disruption of the American automotive industry, which would pose a systemic risk to financial market stability and have a negative effect on the economy of the United States. The program requires participating institutions to implement plans that will achieve long-term viability. Participating institutions must also adhere to rigorous executive compensation standards and other measures to protect the taxpayers' interests, including limits on the institution's expenditures and other corporate governance requirements. Guidelines for the AIFP are published on Treasury's website.

On December 19, 2008, Treasury announced a plan to make emergency loans available from the TARP to General Motors Corporation (GM) and Chrysler LLC (Chrysler) to assist the domestic auto industry in becoming financially viable. This step was taken to stave off a disorderly bankruptcy of one or more auto companies and prevent significant disruption to the already fragile economy. Treasury will carry out these transactions under the newly established AIFP.

Treasury closed on its agreement with GM on December 31, 2008, and its agreement with Chrysler on January 2. Under the GM agreement, Treasury will provide GM with up to a total of $13.4 billion in short-term financing from the TARP. Treasury funded $4 billion of this loan immediately, and committed to fund an additional $5.4 billion on January 16, 2009. Treasury will provide an additional $4 billion on February 17, 2009, subject to GM meeting certain conditions and funds being available to Treasury to purchase troubled assets under section 115(a) of the EESA. To protect taxpayers, the agreement requires GM to use these funds to become financially viable and includes other binding terms. The Chrysler agreement is outside the reporting period and will be discussed in the next report under section 105(a) of EESA.

On December 29, 2008, Treasury also purchased $5 billion of senior preferred equity with an 8% annual distribution right from GMAC LLC (GMAC) through the AIFP. Under the agreement, GMAC issued warrants to Treasury in the form of additional preferred equity in an amount equal to 5% of the preferred stock purchase; these warrants were exercised at closing of the investment transaction for additional preferred equity with a 9% annual distribution right. Additionally, Treasury agreed to lend up to $1 billion of TARP funds to GM so that GM can participate in a rights offering by GMAC in support of GMAC's reorganization as a bank holding company. The loan will be secured by collateral including certain GMAC equity interests owned by GM and those being acquired by GM in the rights offering, and it will be exchangeable at any time, at Treasury's option, for the GMAC equity interests being acquired by GM in the rights offering.

The ultimate level of funding under this facility will depend upon the level of current investor participation in GMAC's rights offering. Under these agreements, both GMAC and GM must comply with enhanced restrictions on executive compensation.

The Targeted Investment Program

The Targeted Investment Program (TIP) is designed to prevent a loss of confidence in financial institutions that could result in significant market disruptions, threatening the financial strength of similarly situated financial institutions, impairing broader financial markets, and undermining the overall economy. Institutions will be considered for this program on a case-by-case basis, based on a number of factors described in the program guidelines. These factors include the threats posed by destabilization of the institution, the risks caused by a loss of confidence in the institution, and the institution's importance to the nation's economy. Program guidelines for the TIP were published on Treasury's web site on January 2, as required by section 101(d) of the EESA.

Treasury completed the first transaction under the TIP on December 31, 2008, when it invested $20 billion in Citigroup perpetual preferred stock and warrants. Under the agreement with Citigroup, Treasury will receive an 8% annual dividend, payable quarterly. As part of this agreement, Citigroup must implement rigorous executive compensation standards and other restrictions on corporate expenditures. The transaction represents Treasury's second investment in Citigroup; in October 2008, Treasury also invested $25 billion in the company through the CPP.

The Asset Guarantee Program

On December 31, 2008, Treasury transmitted to Congress a report that describes the Asset Guarantee Program (AGP) established under section 102 of the EESA. This program provides guarantees for assets held by systemically significant financial institutions that face a risk of losing market confidence due in large part to a portfolio of distressed or illiquid assets. The AGP will be applied with extreme discretion in order to improve market confidence in the systemically significant institution and in financial markets broadly. Treasury does not anticipate that the program will be made widely available, and notes that the EESA requires that premiums under section 102 be set to ensure that taxpayers are fully protected

Treasury is exploring use of the AGP to address the guarantee provisions of the non-binding agreement with Citigroup Inc. announced on November 23, 2008, and described in Treasury's 105(a) report to the Congress dated December 5, 2008.

The insurance program report to the Congress is available on Treasury's website.

Other Initiatives:

Term Asset-Backed Securities Loan Facility

The Treasury will provide $20 billion from the TARP to support the Federal Reserve's $200 billion Term Asset-Backed Securities Loan Facility (TALF). This facility will help market participants meet the credit needs of households and small businesses by supporting the issuance of asset-backed securities (ABS) collateralized by student loans, auto loans, credit card loans, and loans guaranteed by the Small Business Administration. The TALF is expected to begin operation early in 2009.

Credit market stresses led to a steep decline in the issuance of ABS for these types of loans in the third quarter of 2008, and the market essentially came to a halt in October. At the same time, higher risk premiums drove interest rate spreads on AAA-rated tranches of ABS to levels well outside the range of historical experience. The purpose of the TALF is to increase credit availability by stimulating the issuance of consumer and small business ABS at more normal interest rate spreads.

On December 19, 2008, the Federal Reserve released revised terms and conditions and questions and answers detailing operational aspects of the TALF. Under the revised terms and conditions, the Federal Reserve will lend on a non-recourse basis to holders of certain AAA-rated ABS fully secured by newly and recently originated consumer and small business loans. TALF loans will have a term of three years and will be fully secured by eligible collateral. Haircuts (a percentage reduction used for collateral valuation) will be determined based on the riskiness of each type of eligible collateral and the maturity of the eligible collateral pledged to the Federal Reserve. The haircuts will provide additional protection to taxpayers by protecting the Federal Government from loss. Treasury will provide $20 billion of credit protection to the Federal Reserve in connection with the TALF. The sponsor of the eligible ABS must agree to comply with the same executive compensation restrictions required for participants in the CPP.
