

ATTACHMENT TO AFFIDAVIT

The search of the Subject Property and Premises will include a physical search for the items mentioned in the text of the search warrant, including more specifically the following:

1. Documents, memoranda, notes or other writings and equipment which include but are not limited to schematics, diagrams, blueprints, surveillance equipment or its manuals and other related paperwork, receipt for purchase of items, how-to magazines, books and pamphlets which describe a plot to harm or kill other individuals, communication which would include but not be limited to handwritten notes and drawings, memos and photographs, which would include descriptive information such as telephone numbers, addresses, directions, and affiliations and contact points of individuals Bruce Edwards Ivins believes may be involved in the investigation into the anthrax attacks of 2001. Note that such documentary material described herein may be in printed or electronic form such as, but not limited to, computer disks. Such computerized and other electronic material would constitute contraband, fruits, instrumentalities or evidence of the offenses enumerated herein and in the attached affidavit for search warrant.

2. Firearms and ammunition, extra magazines, sights, ballistics vests, targets, and any other weapon of any kind, and any and all paperwork referencing purchase, maintenance, transfer and ownership of any weapon.

3. Keys, records, or other information pertaining to storage facilities, safety deposit boxes or other locations where such items set forth in paragraph 1 and 2 may be stored.

4. Computer hardware, computer software, computer-related documentation, computer passwords and data security devices, records, documents, photos, and materials use to communicate, both written, electronic mail, and by any other means directed either to/from subject.

a. Computer hardware is defined as any computer equipment including any electronic devices which are capable of analyzing, collecting, converting, creating, displaying, or transmitting electronic, magnetic, optical computer impulses or data. These devices include, but are not limited to, computers, computer components, computer peripherals, data-processing hardware (such as CPUs, memory typewriters, and self-contained laptop or notebook computers), encryption circuit boards, internal and peripheral storage devices (such as fixed disks, external hard disks, floppy disk drives and diskettes, tape drives and tapes and optical storage devices), peripheral input/output devices (such as keyboards, printers, scanners, plotters, and video display monitors), related communications devices (such as modems, cables and connections, recording equipment, Random Access memory (RAM) or Read-Only memory (ROM) units, automatic dialers, speed dialers, programmable telephone dialing or signaling devices, and electronic tone gathering devices), as well as devices, mechanisms, or parts that can be used to restrict access to such hardware (such as physical keys and locks.)

b. Computer software is defined as any instructions or programs stored in the form of electronic, magnetic, or optical media which are capable of being interpreted by a computer or its related components. These items include, but are not limited to, operating systems, application software, utility programs, compilers, interpreters, and communications software, as well as software used to communicate with computer hardware peripherals, either directly or indirectly by telephone lines, radio, or other means of transmission. Computer software may also include certain data, data fragments, or control characters integral to the operation of the computer software.

c. Computer-related documentation is defined as any written, recorded, printed, or electronically-stored material which provides instructions or examples concerning the operating of a computer system, computer software, and/or any related device, including but not limited to, user agreements, software manuals, and operating procedure guidelines. Such documentation may also include material which explains or illustrates the configuration or use of any seized hardware, software, or related item.

d. Computer passwords and data security devices are defined as all those devices, programs, or data - whether themselves or in the nature of hardware or software - that can be used, or is designed for use to restrict access to, or facilitate concealment of, any computer hardware, software, computer-related documentation, electronic data, records, or materials within the scope of this application. These items include, but are not limited to, any data security software or information (such as test keys and encryption codes), similar information that is required to access computer programs or data or to otherwise render programs or data into usable form.

e. Records, documents, and materials, as used above, includes all the forgoing items of evidence in whatever form and by whatever means such records, documents, or material, their drafts, or their modifications may have been created or stored, including, but not limited to, any handmade form (such writing or drawing), any photographs or negatives, any mechanical form (such as printing or typing) or any electrical, electronic, magnetic, or optical form (such as floppy diskettes, hard disks, CD-Roms, optical disks, printer buffers, smart cards, thumb drives, memory calculators, electronic dialers, or electronic notebooks), as well as printouts or readouts from any storage devices.

f. The term electronic mail is defined as any communications, including, but not limited to, the transfer of signs, signals, writing, images, sounds, data, or intelligence, previously received, transmitted, or stored, or prepared in contemplation of transmission, or any communications in the process of being received or transmitted, whether stored on any electronic media named above or held in temporary, intermediate storage incidental to transmission.
