

Treatment of Remanufactured Goods

This Agreement recognizes the importance of remanufacturing to the industrial sectors of Korea and the United States, and supports both countries commitment to conservation and environmentally friendly industrial policy. In furtherance of these shared objectives, the Agreement accords preferential tariff treatment to remanufactured industrial goods.