

Jan. 4, 2000

Please ban the use of human antibiotics to make livestock grow faster. ~~It is well~~ <sup>IN 250 10 98</sup> recognized that overuse of antibiotics in animal agriculture is probably one of the principal causes (if not the principal cause) of antibiotic resistance in food-borne bacteria. It is good to study the problems but at the expense of the proliferation of how many diseases. The risk is not worth the gain by livestock producers.

Thank you for giving this your attention.

Ross Christensen

PAT CHRISTENSEN
1056 Prospect Blvd.
Waterloo, Iowa 50701

Jane Henney, M.D. Commissioner
Food & Drug Administration
5600 Fishers Sq., Room 1471
Rockville, MD 20857

