To Whom It May Concern:

I am aware that a coalition of 60 pro-abortion groups has filed a petition with the FDA, asking that morning-after abortion pills be made available over the counter. In addition, the maker of one abortifacient morning-after pill has launched a series of clinical trials in an effort to convince the FDA to let pharmacists dispense the drug without a doctor's prescription.

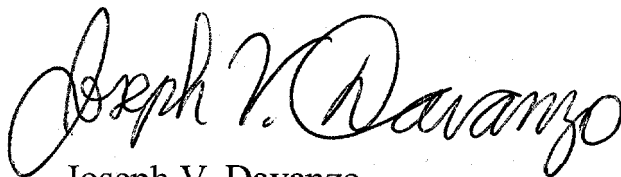

My message to you is a simple one: Don't do it! In fact, I ask you to withdraw these pills because they do not prevent abortion; they ARE abortion.

The problem is that the morning-after pill (actually four pills) does abort a human being, an individual human embryo whose specific DNA and personhood is established at fertilization, not at the discretion of the mythmakers in the reproductive rights movement.

Their argument is that the availability would curtail the number of abortions. This is patently false, of course, since the pills act to end the life of a human embryo prior to the time of implantation, thus causing abortion.

Thank you for your time. I hope that someone can respond.

Respectfully,

Joseph V. Davanzo
