DR. HENNEY:

THE news of Antibiotic resistant human disease causing bacteria is becoming more and more Alarming.

I wish to join the many healthcare professionals and scientists in urging The Food and Drug Administration to ban the use of human antibiotics for the purpose of enhancing livestock growth.

It seems patently unwise to allow a practice that may well lead to the irreversible destruction of the means of effective treatment for serious human diseases!

Sincerely,

MARY B. Johnson
