

Dear Jane Henney, M.D., Commissioner of the F.D.A.:

Hello. I am a concerned consumer, scientist and concerned citizen.

I am now a member of the Union of Concerned Scientists and also CO-OP America. There must be an effectiveness of antibiotics in curing human disease. I urge you and the Food and Drug Administration to ban the use of human antibiotics to make livestock grow faster. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention considers the overuse of antibiotics in animal agriculture the principal cause of antibiotic resistance in food-borne bacteria like salmonella and campylobacter.

Okay my main point is do what ever you and the Food and Drug Administration can do to prevent untreatable disease. And help to find new cures for various diseases and thus make our world safer and more sustainable for us and our future. Reply to me on your progress and your future work.

Sincerely Yours
