

March, 2001

Dear FDA,

Voluntary compliance on anything that cost an extra dollar has never worked.

I want to know what I am eating and I want the label to say if there are genetically engineered ingredients in it.

These ^{GE} foods cannot be assumed to be safe and the "cautionary principle" should always prevail.

There should be a moratorium on the production of GE foods until proven safe.

Remember DDT Agent Orange, and the host of sickening & deadly side effects of the myriad of pharmaceuticals coming thru the food chain.

Sincerely
Bill Thompson