Dear Ms. Henney,

As a person trained in bacteriology I request that you do all you can to ban growth-promoting uses of antibiotics in animals and food which are to be eaten by humans if these antibiotics are in use to cure human disease. I hear of case after case where children's ear aches, sinus infections and coughs are not responding to common antibiotics. The staph or other bacteria involved have become antibiotic resistant. Please, help.

Sincerely yours,
Alice E. Schofield
