

Dear Commissioner,

2-17-01

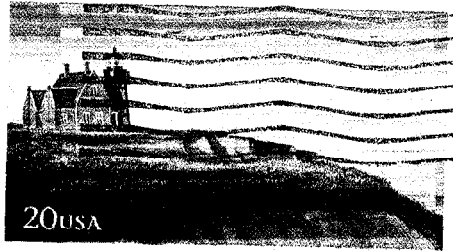

I am writing to lend my support to the labeling of all genetically engineered foods and ingredients. I do not, and I believe the FDA should not assume these foods to be safe without mandatory pre-market safety testing. Until proven safe, there should be a moratorium on the sale and use of these foods. Voluntary labeling, as proposed in the new rule on guidance of genetically engineered foods is inadequate to protect human health and the agricultural environment.

Sincerely,
Pamela Cabbage
