Assuming you can laugh about it now...

Just got back from a side trip to Greece which, except for startling (and being startled by) a rather large snake while hiking to a remote beach, was like a vacation within a vacation. Tomorrow, I'm off to see this Byzantine monastery that's carved into a cliff near the Black Sea city of Trabzon. Then it's back to the U.S. on Tuesday.

Hope you guys are managing to have a good time w/o me,

Billy
