

1 [* My friends in Ventura County, CAY explained to me how hard it was and how long it took to gain the trust of Japanese, for example, when they wanted to export their avocados, lemons & oranges to Japan during the "Fruit Fly outbreak". For Many Years, Japan absolutely refused to let anything come into their country that they thought could contaminate them. Imagine what would happen if/when they got word of even a possible contamination from water from Nevada which would be contaminated with radioactive nuclear waste!! (Remember, the scientists are sure that the waste would leak from here and go into the water, or possibly the wind.) If it were by wind, all it would take would be one Santa Ana Wind for the plants and crops in California to be permanently contaminated (and, of course, the people). If it were by water seepage, as with Colorado River water or ground (well) water, the same would apply. Once the water were contaminated, it would permanently contaminate the plants and their crops.]
