To Whom It May Concern, Re: Firms might get more leeway with "made In U.S.A." Tag Dispatch, Tues. St. Louis Post-May 6, 1997.

We are firm believers in U.S.A. made products from beginning to end when possible. We feel the label should read "Made In U.S.A." if the product truly is produced here and assembled here.

If the components are produced elsewhere and the product is only assembled here, then the label should so state.

We feel too much leeway on manufacturing labels will only lead to companies looking to other countries for components or assembly and, thus, more job loss for we Americans.

Let's make America's manufacturing strong once again.

Sincerely,
