Sir,

It has come to my attention that articles partially made in other countries, in fact mostly made in other countries to ^{be} labeled "Made in America".

This is but cheap chicanery, fraud and deceit of the American public as well as total dishonesty to other countries if we export these products elsewhere.

I have never in my life been so thoroughly disgusted with such bureaucratic malaise on the part of an American institution.

Public awareness is the name of the game, and those in government who have proven themselves to be unfit, should be removed from office.

It is to be hoped that the bureau will nip this fraud in the bud.

Sincerely yours
Sol Charkoff
